Strike Voted Down At AMC

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Members of Local 75 of the United Auto Workers voted Wednesday against a strike at American Motors Corp. in a dispute over work rules in a three-year contract signed late last year.

The union election committee said the vote was 2,175 against the strike and 1,597 for. The local has about 8,800 members eligible to vote. A strike had been recommended by the local's executive board on a split vote.

The ballot was taken one day after the strike vote was authorized by the international union, and while AMC's body plant in Milwaukee and assembly works in Kenosha were shut down because of a strike at a supplier's plant.

AMC had announced that the Milwaukee plant and the Kenosha factories, with about 14,000 workers, would be closed the first three days of this week. However, Tuesday the company said the shutdown would be extended through the remainder of the work week.

Woman Pilot, Globe Girdler, Killed In Crash

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The first woman to fly the equatorial route around the world is believed to have piloted a small plane that crashed in the San Gabriel Mountains Wednesday, killing the two women aboard.

Although the coroner's office declined official identification until her husband views the badly burned bodies, the husband said he had no doubt his wife, Joan Merriam Smith, 28, is dead.

Authorities believe the other woman was Trixie Ann Schubert, 42, of Los Angeles, who was writing Joan's life story.

Sheriff's deputies and federal authorities reported that the women took off toward the area of the crash from nearby Long Beach.

"I don't have any doubt (that Joan died), because the plane never came back," Lt. Cmdr. Marvin (Jack) Smith Jr., her husband since 1960, said Wednesday night. "But I won't go down there (to the coroner's office) until tomorrow."

Smith, commanding officer of the minesweeper USS Endurance, said he was aboard his vessel in Long Beach Harbor at the time of the crash.

Joan and Jerrie Mock of Columbus, Ohio, caught the world's imagination last year with their race to become the first woman to circle the globe.

Mrs. Mock finished her round-the-world trip before Joan, but Joan claimed victory because she flew the so-called Amelia Earhart or equatorial route, which was 4,000 miles farther.

Her 27,750-mile flight took 23 days of flying time. She was delayed 33 days by weather, mechanical trouble and even a revolution in Brazil. She made 34 stops and crossed the equator five times.

Business Asked To Help Curb U.S. Gold Drain

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson summoned some 370 top-level businessmen to hear a plea today that they help curb the gold-dollar drain by volunteering to slash investments and lending in Europe.

Even as Johnson called leading industrialists and bankers to the White House, he was holding in reserve a threat to require the investment-lending cuts through legislation.

If only by coincidence, Johnson's new effort to bring the balance-of-payments problem under control had some earmarks of a carrot-and-stick approach.

Only Wednesday, the President announced plans to cut business taxes by more than $700 million this year through administrative changes in tax write-off rules. This disclosure, at a meeting of the National Industrial Conference Board, failed to spark applause although the size of the cut went well beyond earlier expectations.

The NIBC members interrupted Johnson's address with applause but once, and then lightly, when he explained he was 15 minutes late because he had been discussing the gold-dollar problem at lunch with former President Dwight D. Eisenhower.

When Johnson declared that "the Great Society is not a welfare — not a spending state," one businessman in the luncheon audience cried out, "Ha!"

Senators Back Home Rule Bill

LANSING (AP) — A county home rule bill backed by 14 Senate Democrats was introduced Wednesday.

The 15-page measure provides that any county legislative body must be elected from districts apportioned on a strict population basis. It does not require each city, village or township to have a representative on any county legislative body.

Democrats and Gov. George Romney both have called for legislation that would permit counties to govern themselves on a more efficient and flexible basis.

Home rule counties would be required to elect on a partisan basis a sheriff, prosecuting attorney, county clerk, treasurer, register of deeds and drain commissioner.

Home rule counties could accumulate debt up to 10 per cent of the county's state-equalized property valuation and could tax residents up to a county-wide limitation of one per cent of the assessed valuation.

The question of framing a home rule charter could be proposed by the existing board of supervisors or by initiative petition.

Widow To Pick Kennedy Portrait

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mrs. John F. Kennedy has agreed to take charge of efforts to pick a portrait of the late President Kennedy to be hung in the White House.

Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson asked Mrs. Kennedy to do so and she agreed, Mrs. Elizabeth Carpenter, the First Lady's press secretary, said Wednesday. It has not been decided whether a new portrait or an existing one will be used.

Two-thirds approval in each house followed by a favorable vote at the next general election are needed for a constitutional amendment to pass.

Baby Girl Dies In Oscoda Fire

OSCODA (AP) — Three-year-old Jacqueline Pender died Wednesday in a fire that swept her family's mobile home here.

Her parents, Air Force Sgt. and Mrs. Carl Pender and their four other children, aged 9 to 16, required treatment for minor burns.

Firemen believed a faulty space heater caused the blaze.

Action Mapped For Defense Of Freedom

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States evidently has decided to strike military targets in North Viet Nam without waiting for specific attacks by Communist forces in South Viet Nam to retaliate against.

This is understood to be the meaning of President Johnson's statement Wednesday on Vietnamese war policy, a week after the first series of air strikes against North Vietnamese infiltration targets.

Johnson told a conference of businessmen here the people of South Viet Nam are under attack "that is controlled and that is directed from outside their country," a reference to the U.S. contention that the Communist guerrillas are directed by North Viet Nam.

Hopes For Settlement

The President also spoke of "continuing aggression" by the Communists and "continuing actions" by the United States.

He said: "We must all understand that we will persist in the defense of freedom, and our continuing actions will be those which are justified and those that are made necessary by the continuing aggression of others. These actions will be measured and fitting and adequate."

The U.S. strategic objective in strikes at bases in North Viet Nam is to convince the Communist leaders that they cannot win the war in South Viet Nam except at the risk of destruction of their own country.

There is hope in official quarters here and in other Allied capitals that at some point negotiations for settlement will become possible on terms which would put an end to the Communist drive against South Viet Nam and would secure that country's independence.

French Envoy Arrives

The question of such a possible peaceful settlement was foremost among the topics expected to be discussed here by French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville in talks with President Johnson, Secretary of State Dean Rusk, and Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara.

The French diplomat arrived Wednesday night and was scheduled to meet with Rusk today and with Johnson and McNamara Friday.

The main purpose of his visit — in response to an invitation from Rusk — is to continue discussion of U.S.-French differences on a whole range of major issues, including the reorganization of the Atlantic Alliance, the United Nations, the future development of Europe, international monetary policy and the war in Southeast Asia.

PLEDGES BROKEN

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Everett M. Dirksen declared today it would be "dangerous to our security" to negotiate a settlement in South Viet Nam.

The Senate Republican leader announced he plans to answer Sens. Frank Church, D-Idaho, and George S. McGovern, D-S.D., who called Wednesday for efforts to bring about a ceasefire in South Viet Nam.

These were part of a series of speeches obviously designed to influence President Johnson's course in what the chief executive told the National Industrial Conference Board is "the very serious situation in Viet Nam."

Johnson said that in South Viet Nam "we will persist in the defense of freedom and our continuing actions there will be those which are justified and those that are made necessary by the continuing aggression of others."

In such a situation, Dirksen said he finds it "difficult to understand why members of the President's party are suggesting negotiations and other measures which would definitely diminish our prestige, weaken our position in that part of the world and have a definite impact on the thinking people in other areas of the world."

The Republican leader said it would be "dangerous to our security and that of our free world allies" to negotiate with the Communists who, he said, "have a long record of broken pledges."

Attacks Continue On U.S. Embassies

WASHINGTON (AP) — Attacks on U.S. buildings abroad apparently are at a new high despite statements by President Johnson and Secretary of State Dean Rusk calling for respect.

More than a dozen assaults have damaged American embassies and other U.S. government property since Johnson's State of the Union address Jan. 4. One unofficial count lists 14 such attacks.

State Department records show 53 cases of "damages to U.S. government buildings overseas through mob violence or other causes" in the 2½ years ended December 1964. That's slightly less than two attacks a month.

Protection Demanded

Johnson said: "We cannot be indifferent to acts designed to injure our interests, or our citizens, or our establishments abroad. The community of nations requires mutual respect. We shall extend it — and we shall expect it."

Rusk, at a news conference last Dec. 23, voiced concern over foreign violation of the "elementary rights of legations" and said: "We shall be sensitive on these matters." After the Feb. 9 attack on the American Embassy in Moscow, Rusk said the United States is going to "press very sharply" for full protection of its embassies.

Among the incidents which prompted official U.S. concern as 1964 drew to a close was violence by leftists after the U.S.-Belgian paratroop rescue mission in the Congo.

A mob burned down the 25,000-book John F. Kennedy Library at Cairo. Another smashed 56 windows in the American Embassy at Moscow, set a car afire and tore the U.S. seal off the wall.

Flag Pulled Down

The Feb. 9 Moscow mob smashed 200 windows in the wake of U.S. air strikes on North Viet Nam. Other attacks followed on the U.S. Legations at Budapest and Sofia. Wednesday demonstrators stoned and splashed ink on the American Embassy at Warsaw.

Some Africans have been demonstrating their distaste for alleged U.S. complicity in the bombing of two villages in Uganda. Despite Washington's protestations of innocence, a crowd pulled down the U.S. flag at the U.S. Embassy at Kampala Feb. 16.

In Indonesia, the Sukarno regime continued to seize U.S. libraries. The 20,000-volume library at Jakarta was stoned and taken over last Tuesday. Its windows had been smashed and about 20 per cent of its books burned in an attack Dec. 4.

Of the American government libraries in Indonesia, three have been mobbed and closed while two smaller ones are still operating.

What is the United States doing about these attacks? Mainly, it appears to have resorted to diplomatic protests and demands for embassy protection and compensation. Sometimes it gets paid damages, sometimes not.

Hearings For 2 Generals Takes 20-Day Recess

LANSING (AP) — In 20 days, state attorneys will present their last witness on land transactions — just one of three items involved in Gov. George Romney's hearings for two suspended National Guard generals.

Romney called a 20-day recess in the three-day-old hearings Wednesday because of some commitments of his own and because of a military duty assignment for one of the defense attorneys.

Romney set March 9 for reopening of his inquiry into a three-count charge accusing Maj. Gen. Ronald McDonald and Brig. Gen. Carson Neifert of "gross neglect of duty, misfeasance and malfeasance" in office.

A Defense Department announcement said the April draft total is needed "to replace the losses for the Arms Control and Disarmament Conference and to compensate for by enlistments and re-enlistments so as to maintain approved active Army strength."

Auditor's Job Cinched By Lee

LANSING (AP) — Detroit accountant Albert Lee cinched the job of legislative auditor today with the withdrawal of leading contender Richard Austin.

House Speaker Joseph Kowalski, D-Detroit, said today he received a telegram from Austin asking that House Democrats "withdraw my application in favor of my good friend Al Lee."

The withdrawal confirmed indications Wednesday that a secret ballot in the House Democratic Caucus went to Lee — heavily endorsed by labor groups.

Lee also was believed to be the to-heavy favorite among Democratic senators. The choice was to be kept a secret until both caucuses agreed on one candidate.

Some Republicans indicated they would prefer Lee over the other major candidate — Detroit accountant Richard Austin, co-author of the legislative reapportionment plan which contributed to the Democratic sweep of both houses.

A House-Senate Republican Committee, meanwhile, was to continue its interviews. It interviewed Austin, E. Boomie Mikrut, director of the State Municipal Finance Commission, and Deputy State Auditor Franklin Gregg Jr., Wednesday.

Lee and Detroit accountant J. Irving Grant agreed to appear before the Republican committee, said Rep. Arnell Engstrom, R-Traverse City.

Monthly Draft Quota Doubled

WASHINGTON (AP) — Lagging enlistments forced the Pentagon Wednesday to nearly double its monthly draft quota for April to 13,700 men compared with 7,900 for March.

A Defense Department announcement said the April draft total is needed "to replace the losses for the Arms Control and Disarmament Conference and to compensate for by enlistments and re-enlistments so as to maintain approved active Army strength."

Aerial Bridge Reinstatement Is Peninsula Goal

The Upper Peninsula Air Service Committee meeting Wednesday afternoon at the State Office Building with North Central Airlines and Michigan Aeronautics Department officials ordered collection of data to support a request to the Civil Aeronautics Board for reinstatement of the "aerial bridge" flights by North Central between the Peninsula of Michigan.

The flights between Escanaba and Traverse City were terminated by the airline last April because they did not meet the CAB minimum of traffic volume.

The meeting drew representatives of Hancock, Houghton, Marquette, Menominee, Escanaba, Manistique, Sault Ste. Marie and Traverse City.

Joseph B. Bilitzke, Lansing, assistant attorney general, said that Attorney General Frank J. Kelley would do everything possible to rebuild the aerial bridge connecting the Peninsula of Michigan. The state will coordinate the presentations of affected communities to the CAB and present its own case.

Green Bay Route
Fred Waite of the Michigan Aero Department reviewed the history of the over-the-lake service, which gave U. P. air travelers an optional route to the Lower Peninsula. Air traffic there now moves only via Green Bay, Wis., augmented by other traffic from Wisconsin and Minnesota moving south into Michigan.

Escanaba City Manager George Harvey presided at the meeting and introduced Harold Vanlerbergh of Escanaba, chairman of the U. P. Air Service Committee, who asked the cooperation of the other communities in gathering data for a brief to the CAB asking reinstatement of the bridge flights before the trial period expires Dec. 31, 1965.

Walter Lewke, manager of the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce, said it would support the petition of the committee and prepare Escanaba area material in support of it.

Dr. E. V. Bowden, executive director of the Upper Peninsula Committee on Area Progress, said UPACAP would coordinate the search for data if the U. P. Air Service Committee decided to act.

Manistique's Need
Frank Hoholik, president of the Manistique Pulp & Paper Co., said the Upper Peninsula had been developed only after it had developed a railroad transportation system, which "did an excellent job." He predicted that future development of the U. P. would rest on adequate transportation. Manistique at the present time, he said, has no rail passenger service, only one bus a day, and rail service at Escanaba, and must rely on automobiles for the rest.

"If there must be a subsidy to give us the transportation we need," he said "let us have it."

A. H. Stults of Traverse City said it would support an Upper Peninsula effort for reinstatement of the bridge flights, but would ask that Tri-County Airport (Midland, Saginaw, Bay City) be dropped from the route and that it operate from Traverse City to Lansing and Detroit.

The aerial bridge flights originally operated from Marquette, Escanaba and Traverse City to Saginaw, Port Huron and Detroit. Successive cuts removed Marquette and Escanaba, with Port Huron replaced by Flint.

Won't Oppose It
James Palm, North Central representative, said the airline, which serves Escanaba with three Convair flights a day now, would not oppose a U. P. move for reinstatement of the bridge flights. "You may have problems proving your need," he suggested in indicating the airline's belief that CAB couldn't be induced to reinstate the flight.

"We're of the opinion that you have excellent service through the Green Bay gateway," said Palm. "We don't feel that Marquette and Escanaba generate enough traffic (for Lower Michigan destinations) to justify an interpeninsula flight." The federal examiner indicated the same belief. We'd hate to see you ask for something you don't need. Once you waste it it's hard to get it back."

In a four month period ending March 31, 1963 the bridge flights between Traverse City and Escanaba had a total of 114 origination and destination passengers. This compared with O&D passengers in May, 1962 on North Central totaling between Escanaba and:

Chicago, 241; Detroit, 153; Lansing, 70; Milwaukee, 93; Traverse City, 9 and Green Bay, 36.

Larger Planes
The Upper Peninsula Air Service Committee's aim is to maintain adequate air service to major Upper Peninsula cities. It must act before September if it is to be heard by CAB in the bridge case. Changing factors in air service include:

1. Larger airliners, which reduce the number of flights per day and create pressures to eliminate stops.

2. Improving superhighway surface travel which pressures airlines to eliminate stops.

3. Travel expense account business which goes by car because the traveler can take along his family that way.

The U. P. Committee appears to favor the bridge as a chance to gain more air service without losing any. There is a saving of one hour in a bridge flight to Detroit from Marquette over the Green Bay route, but no saving in fare because of North Central's point-to-point pricing. This charge for the long way around might be debated and is under protest at present because NC charges the same for long and short hauls between Green Bay and Duluth.

Job Corps Calls For Young Men

Young men of Delta County who are registered with Selective Service are being offered the opportunity to interest themselves in the benefits of the Job Corps program.

Mary Wagner, clerk of the Delta County Selective Service Board, 1103 Ludington St., said that young men are being informed of the Job Corps' benefits by letter. The Job Corps is part of the government's anti-poverty plan and it runs centers where young men live and are paid while they make up lost schooling and learn job skills.

"If you are not in school, you may want to work and learn at a Job Corps Center," Selective Service is advising its registrants. The young men are invited to forward to Washington a card indicating their interest in the Job Corps program.

"We will be pleased to counsel and advise young men who have questions relating to the Job Corps," said Miss Wagner. Young men 16 through 21 years old are eligible if they are out of school and can't find a job. In the Corps they can learn a job skill, find out how to apply for a job, earn money, live in centers with other young men their age.

They are promised good food, work outdoors, sports and recreation, and the chance to "become somebody who can get a job done."

U.P. Funeral Directors In Meeting Here

A district meeting of Michigan Funeral Directors is being held in Escanaba today, with a business session at 3 p.m. in the Chamber of Commerce building and dinner tonight at the House of Ludington.

Dr. Hideya Kumata, Michigan State University, was to speak at the afternoon meeting, and Glenn Griffin, Pontiac, will be the dinner speaker. Griffin is president of the 14,000 member National Funeral Directors Association.

Arthur Anderson and Donald Crawford of Escanaba are hosts for the meeting.

Chapekis Family Members Recover

The wife and father of Atty. Nicholas P. Chapekis, Delta County prosecutor, are recovering from recent illnesses and are expected home shortly. Mrs. Chapekis is now out of Loretto Hospital, Chicago, and is expected to return to Escanaba when she can travel—about March 1.

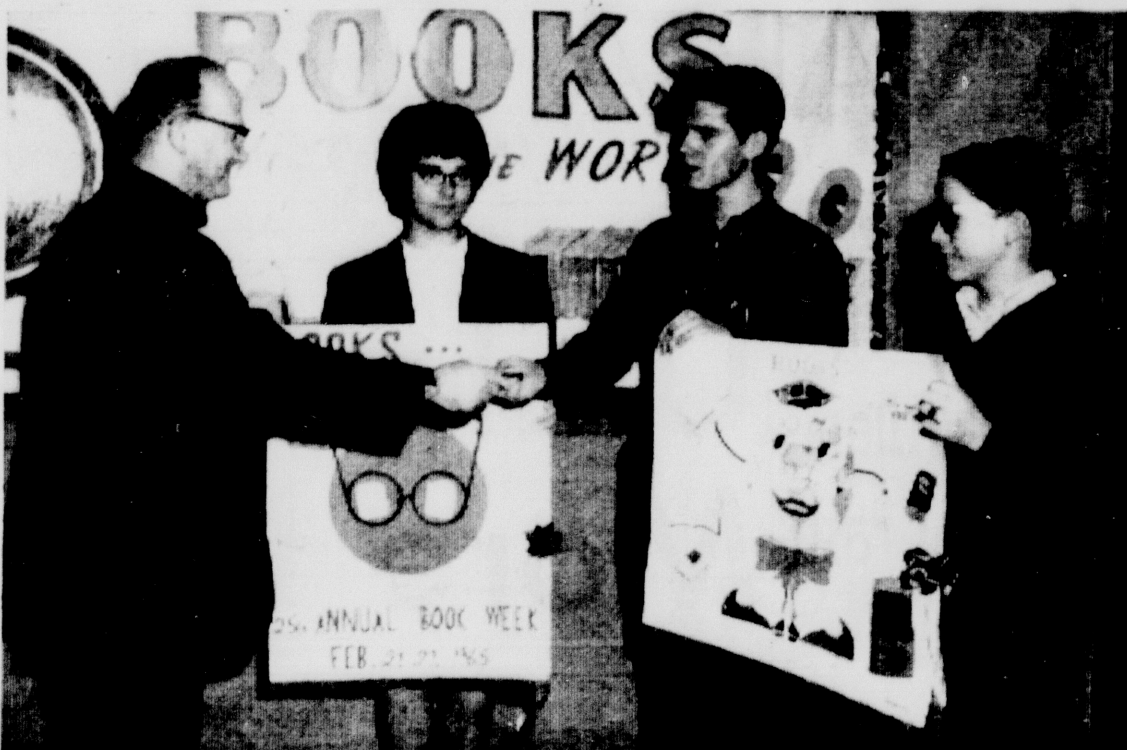

Anthony Chapekis, senior member of the well-known Escanaba family, was stricken with a heart attack during the holidays while visiting in Lower Michigan and was treated at University Hospital, Ann Arbor. He was released from the hospital two weeks ago and will return to Escanaba on Friday, tomorrow.

Appeals Court To Sit In U.P.

Judicial history will be made in Marquette next Tuesday when Michigan's new Court of Appeals, Third District, hears its first case in the Upper Peninsula.

The appeals court was established by the Legislature last year in accordance with provisions of the new Constitution. The state was divided into three appellate districts, and three judges were elected from each district in non-partisan contests last November.

Judges elected from the third district, which includes all of the Upper Peninsula and most of the Lower Peninsula, were Robert Burns, Grand Rapids; John W. Fitzgerald, Grand Lodge, and Donald E. Holbrook, Clare.

Judges elected from the other two districts were T. John Lesinski, chief judge of the appeals court; John H. Gillis, Thomas G. Kavanagh, Louis McGregor, Timothy C. Quinn and John D. Watts.

All of them will come to Marquette Tuesday when the third district court sits for the first time in the Upper Peninsula. They will be accompanied by Ronald L. Dzierbicki, clerk of court.

The Upper Peninsula Bar Association has arranged for a luncheon meeting to be held at Northern Michigan University Tuesday at which the appeals court judges will be guests. At least 100 attorneys from throughout the Upper Peninsula are expected to attend.

The appellate court was created to expedite the previous method of reviewing cases. In the past, there was no court between the circuit court and the State Supreme Court. This resulted in long delays in reviewing cases.

All appeals — in civil and criminal cases — from final judgments in circuit courts, recorders courts and courts of claims will go directly to this new court for review.

Catholic Books Are Highlighted

In observance of Catholic Book Week, Feb. 21-27, an annual celebration highlighting Catholic authors and their books or books which are Catholic in thought and content, Holy Name High School is presenting a Catholic Book Week poster, essay poetry and reading contest through the homeroom officers in the boys' and girls' department. The president of each homeroom is responsible for a representative poster carrying out the national theme from his class; the vice-president is soliciting original essays or poems.

These will be judged and prizes will be awarded. The best in each department will be sent to national headquarters. Each class secretary is taking a poll to discover how best read students in his class find time to read. At this point the best read student seems to be Cecilia Williams, senior, who submitted an imposing list of 25 college-bound reading titles which she has read since Sept. 1.

Library Club officers will visit the Carnegie Library and State Branch Library and ask that their Book Week poster be displayed along with some representative Catholic works. The school library will display Catholic books in each division of fiction and non-fiction sections. Club members have assisted with the school's Book Fair and the Library Club raised money to finance the printing of 1,000 book marks to be distributed this week.

At a club meeting in Catholic Book Week members will give reviews of outstanding Catholic books.

Northern Says MG&E Is Key To Gas Agreement

WASHINGTON (AP) —Northern Natural Gas Co. of Omaha said Wednesday it would agree under certain conditions to amend its application to serve the Upper Peninsula of Michigan with natural gas.

Northern is seeking authority for a $35.7 million project to supply gas to seven communities in Wisconsin, 26 in Michigan and seven iron ore processing plants.

However, Michigan Consolidated Gas Co. and its affiliate, Michigan Wisconsin Pipeline Co., in a competing application seeks authority to spend $15.8 million on a project to serve 36 communities and one iron ore processing plant in the Upper Peninsula.

The competitive part of the applications involve proposed service to 10 communities in the southern part of the Upper Peninsula.

Examiner Francis L. Hall of the Federal Power Commission had suggested that Northern withdraw its objections to Michigan Consolidated's application.

so the hearing could proceed on the non-contested portions of the case.

Escanaba Affected
The effect of this would be that Northern would proceed with its application, with the exception of its request to serve the 10 contested communities, and Michigan Consolidated's application would remain as it is.

Herbert Sampson, a vice president of Northern, told the examiner at Wednesday's hearing that Northern would not object to the issuance of a certificate to Michigan Consolidated and Michigan Wisconsin to serve the 10 communities under certain conditions.

One of these conditions, Sampson said, is that Michigan Gas & Electric Co. concur. Northern now has a contract to sell to Michigan Gas.

Longer Contract

Another, Sampson said, is that the certificate be conditioned so that Michigan Consolidated agree to a 10-year, firm gas contract with Hanna Mining Co., containing no escape clause. The present contract between Michigan Consolidated and Hanna is for five years, with interruptible service. Hanna operates an iron ore plant near Randville, Mich.

Sampson said also that Northern would accept a certificate for the remainder of its application to serve in the Upper Peninsula if it were permitted to reduce the size of its present project to include 54 miles of 20-inch pipeline and 127 miles of 16-inch line, in place of 20-inch line all the way.

This change, Sampson said, would reduce the cost of the Northern project from $35.7 million to $24 million.

There was no indication how soon Hall would rule on this issue.

Hospital's Lab Aids Diagnosis, Care By Tests

St. Francis Hospital of Escanaba has a laboratory which employs the full-time services of eight people and one part-time person. It uses over $20,000 worth of major instruments and equipment.

All of these people and instruments are at the service of every physician in the community to aid him in the diagnosis and treatment of his patients. How the laboratory achieves this service and the quality of that service are the direct responsibility of the pathologist, Dr. R. E. Berry.

Working with the medical staff, hospital administration, and the technical staff, the pathologist must continually seek to achieve more and better service to provide the physicians with the most modern tests that can be performed economically outside the great medical centers.

The most basic requirement of good laboratory service is the quality of the individual tests day by day and week by week. Two recently available methods of measuring this quality are now being used at St. Francis Hospital. One of these is the use of frozen serum which can be tested over and over again for a long period of time.

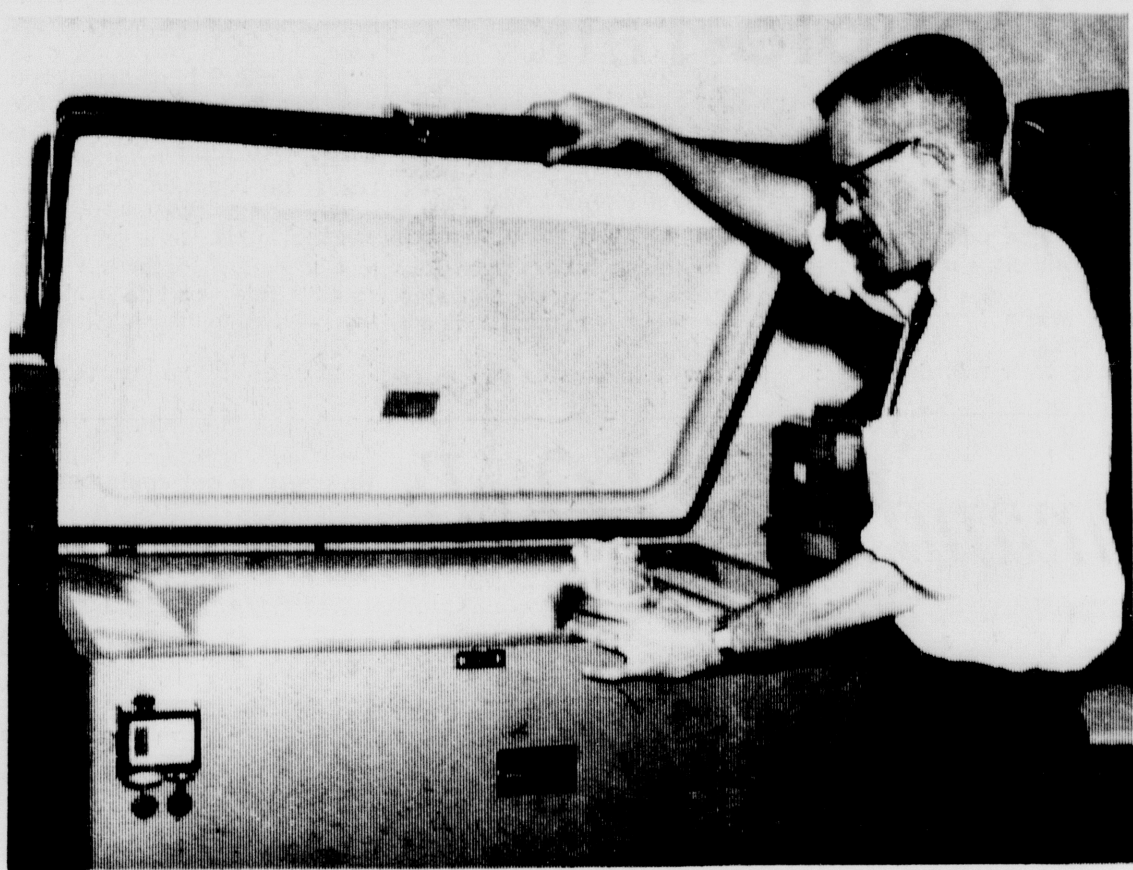

If the temperature of the frozen serum is cold enough, there will be little change in the amount of substances present in the serum and repeated testing should give limited variation in results over a long period. The deep freeze at St. Francis Hospital laboratory used for this purpose operates at approximately 50 degrees below freezing and will preserve chemicals in the serum for more than one year.

Another method of measuring the quality of our laboratory work was made possible by the development of the computer. An established feature of the quality control program at the St. Francis Hospital laboratory is the analysis of all the results of its daily tests by the computer. This has been made possible by an arrangement between the pathologist and the computer center at the University of Florida Medical School. The consecutive test results are submitted to the computer center.

This data is run through the computer, and the computer analysis returned to the hospital laboratory for final evaluation. Using this method, the staff pathologist has already demonstrated that the distribution of various hemoglobin values in hospital patients is essentially the same in Escanaba, Florida and Boston, Mass. This tends to disprove that people in warm climates (such as Florida) have "thinner" blood than those in cold climates (such as the Upper Peninsula.)

While many practical results come from the computer analysis, there are many aspects of computer analysis in laboratory work which must be considered as research projects. St. Francis Hospital's pathology laboratory is cooperating with the computer center at the University of Florida in several of these projects. As a research project, it is also currently studying the possibility of evaluating various hospital laboratories by use of the frozen serum samples.

In this project, the Schoolcraft Memorial Hospital at Manistique, the K. I. Sawyer Air Force Base Hospital at Gwinn and the V. A. Hospital at Iron Mountain are all cooperating with St. Francis Hospital by providing data that can be evaluated. Several papers have been published in the technical journals as a result of these studies by Dr. Berry and A. Sparapani, B. S., and several more will be prepared as results are obtained.

Marine Assault On Iwo Recalled

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — "The closer you get to the beach the more you wonder which of the 18 or 20 men in the boat with you will never return."

That's the way photographer Joe Rosenthal recalls the U.S. Marine assault on Iwo Jima 20 years ago today.

Five thousand Marines died on the tiny island. They made it a fighter-plane stepping stone to Japan in World War II.

Secondary in Rosenthal's thoughts is the famous photograph he made of Marines raising the American flag on Mt. Suribachi, at the southern tip of the eight square miles of Iwo.

Best Photo Of War

It has often been described as the best picture of World War II. It won him a Pulitzer Prize in 1945. It was the model for a huge bronze Marine memorial in Arlington, Va., across the Potomac River from Washington, D.C. It was the theme poster for the seventh war loan drive. It has been reproduced on U.S. postage stamps.

Millions of copies have been printed — in black and white, in color, in magazines, newspapers and on posters.

The photographer, now 53, stocky, bespectacled and with thinning white hair, observed in an interview: "The picture serves a useful purpose in reminding people of the kind of job these men did in battle. Iwo was the kind of battle that is so fierce and costly in suffering, not only to those killed but those who came back maimed."

Enemy In Caves

"The island was bristling with porcupine-like with emplacements. Cannon, anti-aircraft and machineguns studded the terraced terrain.

"Their fire was very heavy in spite of the advance pounding by ship and aerial bombardment.

"The Japanese had an intricate maze of underground caves and connecting tunnels, some three or four stories down. They had underground sleeping quarters, mess hall and headquarters where they could weather the bombardment. Most were still available when the assault came.

"We were all briefed pretty well on the defense. So there was a grim reality as we approached the beach, wondering who would never come back."

Iwo was the fifth island assault Rosenthal covered in the Pacific War as an Associated Press photographer.

The flag raising by five Marines and a Navy corpsman on 546-foot Mt. Suribachi came on Feb. 22 (U.S. time), four days after the Marines first hit the beach.

Rosenthal, now a photographer for the San Francisco Chronicle, said he was invited to today's 20th memorial on Iwo Jima and would like to have gone but he was offered military transportation only from Tokyo to Iwo.

Munising To Host Snowgoes

MUNISING — Plans have been completed for the first annual Upper Peninsula Snowmobile Jamboree at the Forest Inn recreation area west of Munising Saturday and Sunday.

New courses have been laid out by the Munising-Alger Junior Chamber of Commerce for obstacle races, hill climbs, log pulling, cross-country, speed racing and free-for-all events. Trophies will be awarded all first-place winners in all horsepower categories.

Owners of snowmobiles are invited to enter them in competition; non-owners are invited to enjoy the contests as spectators. U. P. dealers will demonstrate machines.

Trial runs and qualifying races will be held at 1 p. m. Saturday, with the main events scheduled to start at the same time on Sunday.

The Munising-Alger Chamber of Commerce is sponsoring a queen contest, open to all girls between 16 and 21. No special attire is required. The queen will be crowned at a "snowmobile dance" in the Forest Inn Saturday night. State Rep. Dominic Jacobetti will head the judging committee.

The former British Crown Colony of Aden, about 75 square miles, in South Arabia, has two rocky peninsulas that jut out like lobster claws, enfolding a fine anchorage.

Aerial Bridge Reinstatement Is Peninsula Goal

The Upper Peninsula Air Service Committee meeting Wednesday afternoon at the State Office Building with North Central Airlines and Michigan Aeronautics Department officials ordered collection of data to support a request to the Civil Aeronautics Board for reinstatement of the "aerial bridge" flights by North Central between the Peninsulas of Michigan.

The flights between Escanaba and Traverse City were terminated by the airline last April because they did not meet the CAB minimum of traffic volume.

The meeting drew representatives of Hancock, Houghton, Marquette, Menominee, Escanaba, Manistique, Sault Ste. Marie and Traverse City.

Joseph B. Bilitzke, Lansing, assistant attorney general, said that Attorney General Frank J. Kelley would do everything possible to rebuild the aerial bridge connecting the Peninsulas of Michigan. The state will coordinate the presentations of affected communities to the CAB and present its own case.

Green Bay Route
Fred Waite of the Michigan Aero Department reviewed the history of the over-the-lake service, which gave U. P. air travelers an optional route to the Lower Peninsula. Air traffic there now moves only via Green Bay, Wis., augmented by other traffic from Wisconsin and Minnesota moving south into Michigan.

Escanaba City Manager George Harvey presided at the meeting and introduced Harold Vanlerberghe of Escanaba, chairman of the U. P. Air Service Committee, who asked the cooperation of the other communities in gathering data for a brief to the CAB asking reinstatement of the bridge flights before the trial period expires Dec. 31, 1965.

Walter Lewke, manager of the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce, said it would support the petition of the committee and prepare Escanaba area material in support of it.

Dr. E. V. Bowden, executive director of the Upper Peninsula Committee on Area Progress, said UPCAP would coordinate the search for data if the U. P. Air Service Committee decided to act.

Manistique's Need
Frank Hoholik, president of the Manistique Pulp & Paper Co., said the Upper Peninsula had been developed only after it had developed a railroad transportation system, which "did an excellent job." He predicted that future development of the U. P. would rest on adequate transportation. Manistique at the present time, he said, has no rail passenger service, only one bus a day, air and rail service at Escanaba, and must rely on automobiles for the rest.

"If there must be a subsidy to give us the transportation we need," he said "let us have it."

A. H. Stults of Traverse City said it would support an Upper Peninsula effort for reinstatement of the bridge flights, but would ask that Tri-County Airport (Midland, Saginaw, Bay City) be dropped from the route and that it operate from Traverse City to Lansing and Detroit.

The aerial bridge flights originally operated from Marquette, Escanaba and Traverse City to Saginaw, Port Huron and Detroit. Successive cuts removed Marquette and Escanaba, with Port Huron replaced by Flint.

Won't Oppose It
James Palm, North Central representative, said the airline, which serves Escanaba with three Convair flights a day now, would not oppose a U. P. move for reinstatement of the bridge flights. "You may have problems proving your need," he suggested in indicating the airline's belief that CAB couldn't be induced to reinstate the flight.

"We're of the opinion that you have excellent service through the Green Bay gateway," said Palm. "We don't feel that Marquette and Escanaba generate enough traffic (for Lower Michigan destinations) to justify an interpeninsula flight." The federal examiner indicated the same belief. "We'd hate to see you ask for something you don't need. Once you waste it it's hard to get it back."

In a four month period ending March 31, 1963 the bridge flights between Traverse City and Escanaba had a total of 114 originations and destination passengers. This compared with O&D passengers in May, 1962 on North Central totaling between tween Escanaba and: Chicago, 241; Detroit, 153; Lansing, 70; Milwaukee, 93; Traverse City, 9 and Green Bay, 36.

Larger Planes
The Upper Peninsula Air Service Committee's aim is to maintain adequate air service to major Upper Peninsula cities. It must act before September if it is to be heard by CAB in the bridge case. Changing factors in air service include:

1. Larger airliners, which reduce the number of flights per day and create pressures to eliminate stops.

2. Improving superhighway surface travel which pressures airlines to eliminate stops.

3. Travel expense account business which goes by car because the traveler can take along his family that way.

The U. P. Committee appears to favor the bridge as a chance to gain more air service without losing any. There is a saving of one hour in a bridge flight to Detroit from Marquette over the Green Bay route, but no saving in fare because of North Central's point-to-point pricing. This charge for the long way around might be debated and is under protest at present because NC charges the same for long and short hauls between Green Bay and Duluth.

Job Corps Calls For Young Men
Young men of Delta County who are registered with Selective Service are being offered the opportunity to interest themselves in the benefits of the Job Corps program.

Mary Wagner, clerk of the Delta County Selective Service Board, 1103 Ludington St., said that young men are being informed of the Job Corps benefits by letter. The Job Corps is part of the government's anti-poverty plan and it runs centers where young men live and are paid while they make up lost schooling and learn job skills.

"If you are not in school, you may want to work and learn at a Job Corps Center," Selective Service is advising its registrants. The young men are invited to forward to Washington a card indicating their interest in the Job Corps program.

"We will be pleased to counsel and advise young men who have questions relating to the Job Corps," said Miss Wagner. Young men 16 through 21 years old are eligible if they are out of school and can't find a job. In the Corps they can learn a job skill, find out how to apply for a job, earn money, live in centers with other young men their age.

They are promised good food, work outdoors, sports and recreation, and the chance to "become somebody who can get a job done."

U.P. Funeral Directors In Meeting Here
A district meeting of Michigan Funeral Directors is being held in Escanaba today, with a business session at 3 p.m. in the Chamber of Commerce building and dinner tonight at the House of Ludington.

Dr. Hideya Kumata, Michigan State University, was to speak at the afternoon meeting, and Glenn Griffin, Pontiac, will be the dinner speaker. Griffin is president of the 14,000 member National Funeral Directors Association.

Arthur Anderson and Donald Crawford of Escanaba are hosts for the meeting.

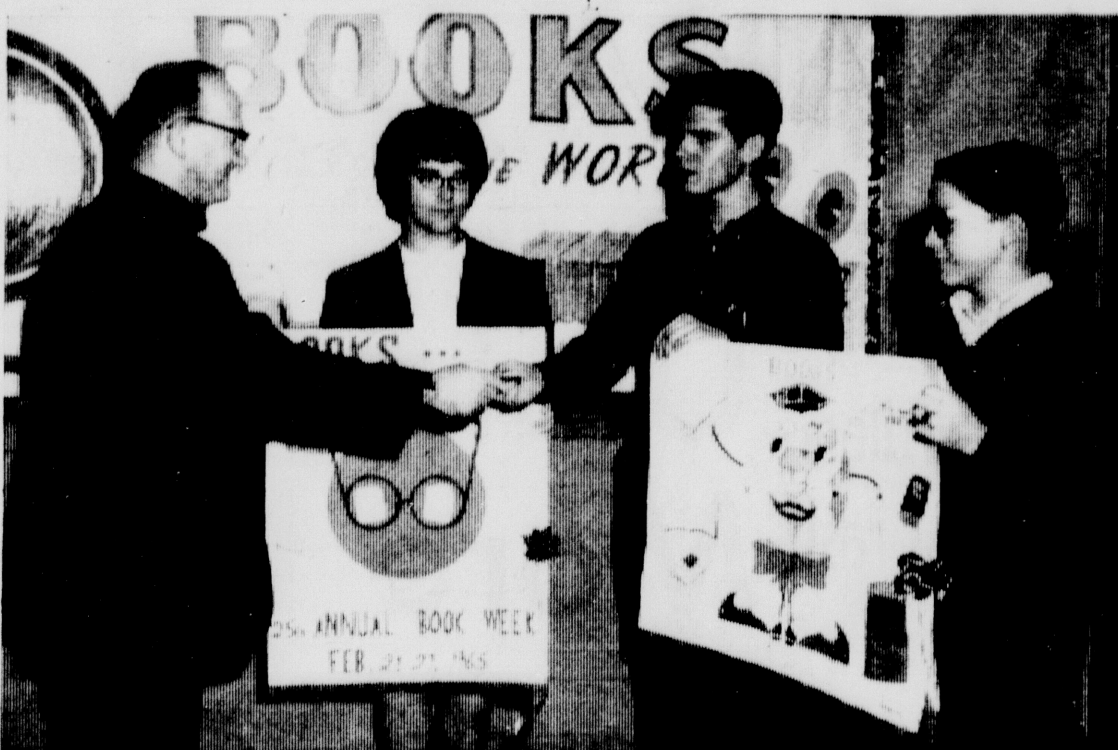

Chapekis Family Members Recover
The wife and father of Atty. Nicholas P. Chapekis, Delta County prosecutor, are recovering from recent illnesses and are expected home shortly.

Mrs. Chapekis is now out of Loretto Hospital, Chicago, and is expected to return to Escanaba when she can travel about March 1.

Anthony Chapekis, senior member of the well-known Escanaba family, was stricken with a heart attack during the holidays while visiting in Lower Michigan and was treated at University Hospital, Ann Arbor. He was released from the hospital two weeks ago and will return to Escanaba on Friday, tomorrow.

Appeals Court To Sit In U.P.

Judicial history will be made in Marquette next Tuesday when Michigan's new Court of Appeals, Third District, hears its first case in the Upper Peninsula.

The appeals court was established by the Legislature last year in accordance with provisions of the new Constitution. The state was divided into three appellate districts, and three judges were elected from each district in non-partisan contests last November.

Judges elected from the third district, which includes all of the Upper Peninsula and most of the Lower Peninsula, were Robert Burns, Grand Rapids; John W. Fitzgerald, Grand Ladge, and Donald E. Holbrook, Clare.

Judges elected from the other two districts were T. John Levenski, chief judge of the appeals court; John H. Gillis, Thomas G. Kavanagh, Louis McGregor, Timothy C. Quinn and John D. Watts.

All of them will come to Marquette Tuesday when the third district court sits for the first time in the Upper Peninsula. They will be accompanied by Ronald L. Dzierbicki, clerk of court.

The Upper Peninsula Bar Association has arranged for a luncheon meeting to be held at Northern Michigan University Tuesday at which the appeals court judges will be guests. At least 100 attorneys from throughout the Upper Peninsula are expected to attend.

The appellate court was created to expedite the previous method of reviewing cases. In the past, there was no court between the circuit court and the State Supreme Court. This resulted in long delays in reviewing cases.

All appeals — in civil and criminal cases — from final judgments in circuit courts, recorders courts and courts of claims will go directly to this new court for review.

Catholic Books Are Highlighted

In observance of Catholic Book Week, Feb. 21-27, an annual celebration highlighting Catholic authors and their books or books which are Catholic in thought and content, Holy Name High School is presenting a Catholic Book Week poster, essay poetry and reading contest through the homeroom officers in the boys' and girls' department. The president of each homeroom is responsible for a representative poster carrying out the national theme from his class; the vice-president is soliciting original essays or poems.

These will be judged and prizes will be awarded. The best in each department will be sent to national headquarters. Each class secretary is taking a poll to discover how best read students in his class find time to read. At this point the best read student seems to be Cecilia Williams, senior, who submitted an imposing list of 25 college-bound reading titles which she has read since Sept. 1.

Library Club officers will visit the Carnegie Library and State Branch Library and ask that their Book Week poster be displayed along with some representative Catholic works. The school library will display Catholic books in each division of fiction and non-fiction sections. Club members have assisted with the school's Book Fair and the Library Club raised money to finance the printing of 1,000 book marks to be distributed this week.

At a club meeting in Catholic Book Week members will give reviews of outstanding Catholic books.

Northern Says MG&E Is Key To Gas Agreement

WASHINGTON (AP) —Northern Natural Gas Co. of Omaha said Wednesday it would agree under certain conditions to amend its application to serve the Upper Peninsula of Michigan with natural gas.

Northern is seeking authority for a $35.7 million project to supply gas to seven communities in Wisconsin, 26 in Michigan and seven iron ore processing plants.

However, Michigan Consolidated Gas Co. and its affiliate, Michigan Wisconsin Pipeline Co., in a competing application seeks authority to spend $15.8 million on a project to serve 36 communities and one iron ore processing plant in the Upper Peninsula.

The competitive part of the applications involve proposed service to 10 communities in the southern part of the Upper Peninsula.

Examiner Francis L. Hall of the Federal Power Commission had suggested that Northern withdraw its objections to Michigan Consolidated's application so the hearing could proceed on the non-contested portions of the case.

Escanaba Affected
The effect of this would be that Northern would proceed with its application, with the exception of its request to serve the 10 contested communities, and Michigan Consolidated's application would remain as it is.

Herbert Sampson, a vice president of Northern, told the examiner at Wednesday's hearing that Northern would not object to the issuance of a certificate to Michigan Consolidated and Michigan Wisconsin to serve the 10 communities under certain conditions.

One of these conditions, Sampson said, is that Michigan Gas & Electric Co. concur. Northern now has a contract to sell to Michigan Gas.

Longer Contract

Another, Sampson said, is that the certificate be conditioned so that Michigan Consolidated agree to a 10-year, firm gas contract with Hanna Mining Co., containing no escape clause. The present contract between Michigan Consolidated and Hanna is for five years, with interruptible service. Hanna operates an iron ore plant near Randville, Mich.

Sampson would accept a certificate for the remainder of its application to serve in the Upper Peninsula if it were permitted to reduce the size of its present project to include 54 miles of 20-inch pipeline and 127 miles of 16-inch line, in place of 20-inch line all the way.

This change, Sampson said, would reduce the cost of the Northern project from $35.7 million to $24 million.

There was no indication how soon Hall would rule on this issue.

Hospital's Lab Aids Diagnosis, Care By Tests

St. Francis Hospital of Escanaba has a laboratory which employs the full-time services of eight people and one part-time person. It uses over $20,000 worth of major instruments and equipment.

All of these people and instruments are at the service of every physician in the community to aid him in the diagnosis and treatment of his patients. How the laboratory achieves this service and the quality of that service are the direct responsibility of the pathologist, Dr. R. E. Berry.

Working with the medical staff, hospital administration, and the technical staff, the pathologist must continually seek to achieve more and better service to provide the physicians with the most modern tests that can be performed economically outside the great medical centers.

The most basic requirement of good laboratory service is the quality of the individual tests day by day and week by week. Two recently available methods of measuring this quality are now being used at St. Francis Hospital. One of these is the use of frozen serum which can be tested over and over again for a long period of time.

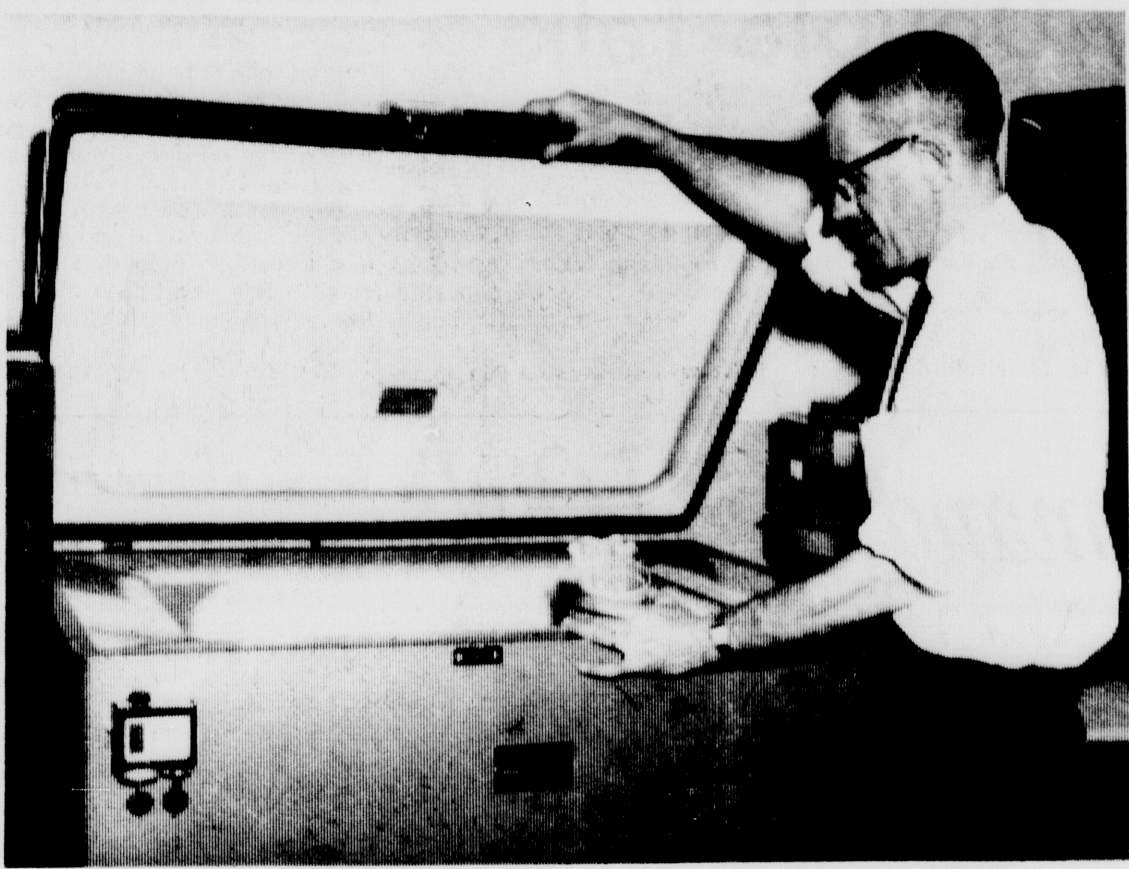

If the temperature of the frozen serum is cold enough, there will be little change in the amount of substances present in the serum and repeated testing should give limited variation in results over a long period. The deep freeze at St. Francis Hospital laboratory used for this purpose operates at approximately 50 degrees below freezing and will preserve chemicals in the serum for more than one year.

Another method of measuring the quality of our laboratory work was made possible by the development of the computer. An established feature of the quality control program at the St. Francis Hospital laboratory is the analysis of all the results of its daily tests by the computer. This has been made possible by an arrangement between the pathologist and the computer center at the University of Florida Medical School. The consecutive test results are submitted to the computer center.

This tends to disprove that people in warm climates (such as Florida) have "thinner" blood than those in cold climates (such as the Upper Peninsula.)

While many practical results come from the computer analysis, there are many aspects of computer analysis in laboratory work which must be considered as research projects. studying the possibility of evaluating various hospital laboratories by use of the frozen serum samples.

In this project, the Schoolcraft Memorial Hospital at Manistique, the K. J. Sawyer Air Force Base Hospital at Gwinn and the V. A. Hospital at Iron Mountain are all cooperating with St. Francis Hospital by providing data that can be evaluated. Several papers have been published in the technical journals as a result of these studies by Dr. Berry and A. Sparapani, B. S., and several more will be prepared as results are obtained.

Marine Assault On Iwo Recalled

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — "The closer you get to the beach the more you wonder which of the 18 or 20 men in the boat with you will never return."

That's the way photographer Joe Rosenthal recalls the U.S. Marine assault on Iwo Jima 20 years ago today.

Five thousand Marines died on the tiny island. They made it a fighter-plane stepping stone to Japan in World War II.

Secondary in Rosenthal's thoughts is the famous photograph he made of Marines raising the American flag on Mt. Suribachi, at the southern tip of the eight square miles of Iwo.

Best Photo Of War

It has often been described as the best picture of World War II. It won him a Pulitzer Prize in 1945. It was the model for a huge bronze Marine memorial in Arlington, Va., across the Potomac River from Washington, D.C. It was the theme poster for the seventh war loan drive. It has been reproduced on U.S. postage stamps.

Millions of copies have been printed — in black and white, in color, in magazines, newspapers and on posters.

The photographer, now 53, stocky, bespectacled and with thinning white hair, observed in an interview: "The picture serves a useful purpose in reminding people of the kind of job these men did in battle. Iwo was the kind of battle that is so fierce and costly in suffering, not only to those killed but those who came back maimed."

Enemy In Caves

"The island was bristling with porcupine-like with emplacements. Cannon, anti-aircraft and machineguns studied the terraced terrain.

"Their fire was very heavy in spite of the advance pounding by ship and aerial bombardment.

"The Japanese had an intricate maze of underground caves and connecting tunnels, some three or four stories down. They had underground sleeping quarters, mess hall and headquarters where they could weather the bombardment. Most were still available when the assault came.

"We were all briefed pretty well on the defense. So there was a grim reality as we approached the beach, wondering who would never come back."

Iwo was the fifth island assault Rosenthal covered in the Pacific War as an Associated Press photographer.

The flag raising by five Marines and a Navy corpsman on 546-foot Mt. Suribachi came on Feb. 22 (U.S. time), four days after the Marines first hit the beach.

Rosenthal, now a photographer for the San Francisco Chronicle, said he was invited to today's 20th memorial on Iwo Jima and would like to have gone but he was offered military transportation only from Tokyo to Iwo.

Munising To Host Snowgoes

MUNISING — Plans have been completed for the first annual Upper Peninsula Snowmobile Jamboree at the Forest Inn recreation area west of Munising Saturday and Sunday.

New courses have been laid out by the Munising-Alger Junior Chamber of Commerce for obstacle races, hill climbs, log pulling, cross-country, speed racing and free-for-all events. Trophies will be awarded all first-place winners in all horsepower categories.

Owners of snowmobiles are invited to enter them in competition; non-owners are invited to enjoy the contests as spectators. U. P. dealers will demonstrate machines.

Trial runs and qualifying races will be held at 1 p. m. Saturday, with the main events scheduled to start at the same time on Sunday.

The Munising-Alger Chamber of Commerce is sponsoring a queen contest, open to all girls between 16 and 21. No special attire is required. The queen will be crowned at a "snowmobile dance" in the Forest Inn Saturday night. State Rep. Dominic Jacobetti will head the judging committee.

The former British Crown Colony of Aden, about 75 square miles, in South Arabia, has two rocky peninsulas that jut out like lobster claws, enfolding a fine anchorage.

Planning Study Group Considers Area Projects

POWERS - SPALDING—Members of the Powers-Spalding Regional Planning Commission met Monday evening in the Township Hall with Everett Thompson and Larry Miller, engineer consultants with Williams & Works of Grand Rapids, to map plans and projects which will comprise the area study authorized by the Village of Powers and Spalding Township Boards and underwritten 75 per cent by the Federal Government.

The federal grant of $9,000 was authorized last week. Maps showing present land use and tabulated results of a recent questionnaire were discussed. The comprehensive planning program for the 5½ square mile area surrounding the two towns will be completed within 18 months.

Improvements in the area suggested by the 80 out of 275 residents who answered the questionnaire developed by William & Works showed that there was interest in development of a lake on the Cedar River for recreation, extension of water lines to Spalding, garbage collection, street and sewer improvements, location of a doctor and dentist, inducements for industry to settle, need for clean-up, fix-up programs and a need for consolidation of schools and Villages for better programs of improvements in both.

Liabilities as listed by answers were: Lack of communication, remote location and the fact that young people leave the area.

Serving on the commission are Melvin Fazer, chairman; Leo Pietsch, clerk; and Julia Letendre, Walter Veraghen, Raymond Fazer, Frank Nowack, Cipriano Pellegrini, David Naser and Ethel Casimir.

John Haines Will Speak On School Dropout

RAPID RIVER—John Haines will present a program on "School Dropouts" at Rapid River P. T. A. meeting Monday, Feb. 22 at 8 p. m. in the multi-purpose room of the Bay De Noc Elementary School.

Haines, a member of Escanaba's Kiwanis Club, serves on the Kiwanis committee which conducted a study on school dropouts. Part of the study was made at Marquette Prison where the inmates were interviewed on their formal education.

John Haines is St. Francis Hospital's associate administrator.

Mrs. Stanley Dominick arranged the program.

Refreshments will be served by the sixth grade mothers.

First Clinic In Nahma March 16

NAHMA—Shirley Miller, R. N. of the Bay de Noc Community College, announces that Tuesday, March 16, is the date of the first well-child clinic that will be held at the Nahma School. At the present time two more appointments are available for the first clinic. Parents are requested to bring extra baby linens with them. Miss Miller and Nancy Pearson, R. N. of the Delta-Menominee Health Department will address the members of the Nahma P. T. A. at the March 2 meeting.

Purpose Served By Double-Talk

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Heaven created the possibility of a perfect language — but man invented double-talk.
Double-talk is ideally suited to man's needs, as it permits him to mask his motives by saying one thing while he is thinking another.
It is said by some that a better world would result if the people had a language that would enable them to communicate with each other perfectly. Actually, this really isn't so.

If we all were completely honest and told our innermost thoughts about each other some bright spring morning, by nightfall no one would be speaking to anyone else and the moon would shine down on an earth in bloody shambles.

Double-talk is a necessary bridge of hypocrisy we must employ to get our business done until the time comes when hypocrisy will no longer be needed.
Here are a few samples of conventional double-talk, followed by their real meanings:

"Our small country is eternally grateful to the United States for the grain and tools of peace it has supplied us." And now, if we can just get some weapons and military advisers from Russia or Red China we can start war on our capitalistic neighbors.
"It was so nice of you to remember my birthday, dear." How come you had amnesia last year?

"The thing I admire about you, Jim, is that you never lose your head when things go wrong." You're too dumb to realize the situation.
"We finally decided against sending Junior to Harvard. It has become so dreadfully parochial." Yale won't take him either — and neither will the U.S. Marines.
"Try sitting in this chair. I think you'll find it much more comfortable." The one you're sprawled in now is an antique — and cost me $150.

"And let me show you our new model 6½-room apartment with the oversized foyer." It has 4½ rooms — if you count the kitchen twice.
"If you're looking for growth possibilities, I'd recommend a little flyer on this stock." I'm stuck with 1,000 shares of it myself.
"If it weren't for you dearest,

I don't know what I'd be." Just happy and single.
"It won't be any trouble. I'll be glad to take care of your goldfish while you're away on vacation." I'll even get my cat to help me.
"I can personally guarantee this used car is in the best condition of any on the lot. I got it from an old maid who hardly ever took it out of the garage." Every time she did, she got picked up for drunken driving.

Facts About Income Taxes

IMPORTANCE OF GOOD RECORDS FARMERS

All taxpayers are required to keep records which will enable them to accurately prepare their tax return.

Also, good records insure that you claim all allowable farm expenses and other deductions.

Good records can mean dollars to you in the way of (1) income tax savings, (2) management of your farm business, and (3) social security benefits.

For the information on how records help you and tips on maintaining such records, consult your FARMER'S TAX GUIDE.

You may obtain this free booklet from your County Agricultural Agent or the local Internal Revenue Service Office.

INCOME CREDIT

After you determine that you have received retirement income, your next step is to determine how much, if any, is to be used in computing the credit.

Under the general rule, the maximum limitation on retirement income is $1,524. Under the new alternative rule available to certain married couples, the maximum limitation is $2,286. The $1,524, or the $2,286 must be reduced by Social Security and Railway Retirement benefits received during the year.

Any individual under 72 must further reduce the $1,524 or the $2,286, by any earned income received during the year in excess of the amounts allowed under the law. These allowable amounts are found on Supplemental Schedule B, Part V of the Form 1040.

The 1964 Retirement Income Credit is then 17 per cent of the lesser of:

(1) The retirement income you received during the year; or

(2) $1,524 (or the alternative $2,286) minus the adjustments explained above.

The Retirement Income Credit serves to reduce your income tax liability. If the Retirement Income Credit is greater than the income tax due, the credit is limited to the income tax due and will not result in a refund.

If you have a question in connection with a pension you receive or with the computation of the retirement income credit, call your local Internal Revenue Service office.

QUESTION: I am 18 years old. During 1964 I had a summer job in a resort area. I made $587 on this job. Of this amount, my employer withheld $46 for federal income tax. This was my only income for the year. Must I file a federal income tax return?

ANSWER: Since your total income was less than $600 you are not required by law to file a return. However, you should file a return so as to get a refund of the $46 which was withheld by your employer. This money will not be refunded unless you do file. The return you should file is the card Form 1040A since this form is the simplest to prepare and it will provide, in your case, for a refund of the total taxes withheld.

QUESTION: My two children attend a private school operated by our church. In past years we have not been able to claim the tuition we pay as a charitable contribution on our income tax return. In 1964 I was informed that if we made out our tuition checks directly to the church, the amounts would be deductible. We would like to know if this is correct?

ANSWER: The Internal Revenue laws state that amounts paid for tuition to a private school are not deductible even though the school is operated by a charitable organization. This is because tuition is a personal expense of the taxpayer and not a contribution to a charitable organization. Of course, amounts which are in fact contributions to a school or church and do not represent tuition are still deductible.

QUESTION: My wife died in December 1963. Am I still entitled to the joint tax rates on my 1964 return? Also, am I entitled to a personal exemption for my deceased wife?

ANSWER: You may qualify for the "Surviving Spouse" tax rates if you meet certain conditions. These rates are the same rates as used for a joint return. There are five requirements necessary. Your spouse must have died in either of the two years preceding 1964. Also, you must have been entitled to file a joint return with her in the year of death. You must not have remarried and you must have a child or stepchild who qualifies as a dependent. Finally, you must furnish over half of the cost of maintaining your home which is the principal abode of the dependent child or stepchild. If you meet all five requirements you may use the "Surviving Spouse" rates. However, you are not entitled to a personal exemption deduction for your deceased spouse after the year of death.

QUESTION: My 20-year-old son is a full-time student at Michigan State University. During 1964 he had earned income of about $800. We suggested that he save all of his earnings for his future. He followed our suggestion and deposited all of his earnings in the bank. His entire support was furnished by myself and my husband. Since he earned over $600, are we prohibited from claiming him as a dependent on our return?

ANSWER: You are entitled to a dependency deduction for your son. This is true as long as he is a student in a qualified educational institution for at least five months of the year and you furnish more than half of his support for the entire year. If these conditions are met, the child's age or amount of income will not disqualify you. However, your son must file his own return since his gross income was $600 or more. He, of course, is also entitled to one personal exemption.

QUESTION: My daughter was a college student until she was married in December, 1964. Her husband works and they are filing a joint return. I contributed almost her entire support for the year. Am I entitled to claim her as a dependent?

ANSWER: Since your daughter elects to file a joint return with her husband, you cannot claim her as a dependent. If you contributed over 50 per cent of her support during the year and her husband filed a separate return, you would be allowed to claim her as a dependent.

QUESTION: I am a union member and work in a Detroit auto plant. During the past year, when the company laid me off due to lack of work, I received supplemental unemployment benefits. Are these payments subject to tax?

ANSWER: Yes. Supplemental unemployment benefit payments from a company-financed supplemental unemployment fund are taxable. These are sometimes referred to as "Guaranteed Annual Wages". These are not to be confused with unemployment compensation paid to you by a state or other government agency which is tax exempt. Payments made under the Railroad Unemployment Insurance Act are also exempt from Federal income tax.

QUESTION: I retired in July, 1964, and I am receiving a pension from my employer of $300 per month. My investment in this pension plan was about $8,000. How should this income be reported on my federal tax return?

ANSWER: If you will recover your cost in your pension plan within three years from the day you receive the first payment, you are not taxed on the proceeds until you fully recover your cost. After your cost is recovered, all future payments are taxed in full. From the facts you have set forth, you will obviously recover your investment within this three-year period. You will therefore not be taxed on the first $8,000 received. The amounts received should be reported on Part I of Supplemental Schedule B of Form 1040.

ENLISTED in the U.S. Coast Guard is Edward J. Desrampe, seaman recruit, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Desrampe of 615 N. 16th St., Escanaba. Longer Shipping Season Studied For Great Lakes

WASHINGTON (AP) — Adm. E. J. Roland, commandant of the U.S. Coast Guard, said Tuesday there is a need for additional equipment, including another ice breaker, to help prolong the shipping season on the Great Lakes.

Roland spoke to a meeting of the Council of Lake Erie Ports. Guests included members of Congress and representatives of the 12 major ports on Lake Erie, in Ohio, New York, Pennsylvania and Michigan.

Roland told the group that extension of the shipping season in the late fall by as much as a week or two would be of major economic benefit to Great Lakes shippers.

There now are one specially built ice breaker, seven tenders and five tugs, all operated by the Coast Guard, used to keep Great Lakes shipping lanes open in early winter.

The Council of Lake Erie ports favors a study to see what could be done to keep Great Lakes shipping lanes open longer.

The council is backing a bill introduced in Congress to authorize such a study.

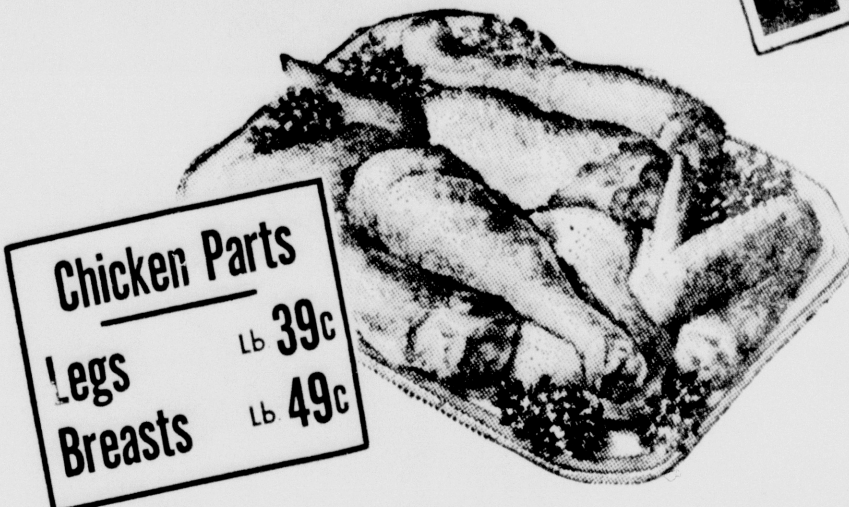

Auto Union Will Train Volunteers In Peace Corps

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Peace Corps and the United Auto Workers signed an agreement Tuesday to train volunteers for overseas duty in vocational and industrial education programs.

Under the contract, signed by Peace Corps Director Sargent Shriver and Victor G. Reuther of the UAW's department of international affairs, 12 specialists will be provided by the UAW. The specialists' salaries will be paid by the UAW, while the Peace Corps pays expenses.

Reuther said his union also is trying to recruit its members for Peace Corps duty overseas, and 400 already volunteered. This is done under a special agreement with management that permits Peace Corps service without loss of seniority or job rights.

Ohio's motto is "With God, all things are possible."

Snowmobile Era

Munising is planning the first annual Upper Peninsula Snowmobile Jamboree this weekend and Eagle River, Wis., recently exercised greater pretensions by staging the National Snowmobile Derby. These communities have a real Winter Wonder by the tail and are on their way to development of a great northern winter sport.

The snowmobile has been with us for years, but in feeble and cranky models that have not caught the public fancy as something that everyone should own—like an electric carving knife, a sidewalk snow blower, an electric razor, a baby's bottle warmer, a power lawnmower, an electric angleworm harvester, an outboard motor, a chainsaw, electric toothbrushes and hedge shears (not the same machine), garden tillers, electric pan greenhouses, home welders, power skillsaws, electric egg whippers, gutter thawers and other modern aids to affluent living.

The Upper Peninsula is ideally, spectacularly adapted to snowmobiling. Most of its areas get enough snow to make snow travel possible and winter opens up to the snowmobiler many areas of great scenic appeal—like bogs, marshes, streams, lakes and dunelands—which are difficult or impossible to travel in other times of the year.

The mosquitoes, no-see-ums and cross-billed neck drills are gone and the snakes and frogs are hibernating. The winter birds are down from the Arctic and anxious to see and be seen. The snow mantle is one of nature's most exciting and beautiful creations, ever changing in texture and attraction and immensely enjoyable.

In the past the cross-country skier, the snowshoer, and the logger riding a caterpillar tractor knew this Winter Wonderland, but now even the late Helen Hokenson's Little Old Lady from Dubuque can enjoy it—bundled and gussied against the chill and seated on a charging snowmobile that goes uphill and down with the greatest of ease in a setting of unmatched cleanliness and beauty.

There are many companies manufacturing snowmobiles today. The situation is reminiscent of the early days of the automobile industry, when most sizeable cities had a pioneer auto plant. Out of all this experimentation we're sure to get some jim-dandy snowmobiles and many already on the market are reliable and efficient. They project a need of the future for a snow lane beside the highway where the snowmobile traffic can operate and a new symbol on the Upper Peninsula's maps to designate snowmobile trails.

The snowmobile gives new usefulness to the "summer" cottage or cabin, making it accessible in mid-winter when its attractions match those of midsummer. No mechanical marvel since the automobile promises such development of recreation in Northern Michigan as the snowmobile. It can turn an area lacking hills into a winter resort. It can invite for a ride in Jack Frost Country people who couldn't be induced to don skis for a free ticket to Society Security. It can make a "pilot" out of a fellow who'd chicken at any conveyance with wings.

Paul Bunyan would certainly approve of the snowmobile. He'd order one that would hold his whole logging crew and then start out hell-for-icecakes for his chopping, leaving Babe, the Blue Ox at home.

Change In Church

The current issue of Our Sunday Visitor, journal of the Marquette Diocese of the Catholic Church, reflects the ecumenism which its church has been stressing since the several sessions of the Vatican Council.

The Diocese Peninsula Scanner states: "A couple of things happened in Marquette recently on the religious front that are worthy of comment:

"First—There was the death of Pastor Otto Magnuson of the Lutheran persuasion. We have met few priests or ministers more dedicated to the cause of Christ than this man. He was revered and followed by his flock. He was respected and listened to by his community. In church circles he held posts of leadership in the Ministerial Association of Marquette. He was a director of Lutheran Brotherhood and was a devoted disciple of cooperative efforts with us in the promotion of anything that aimed at better understanding among us and other religious groups. His work has not gone unrecognized by his associates on earth. God must surely have given him warm welcome.

"One of Marquette's historic buildings, the Baptist Church on the corner of Ridge and Front streets was razed by fire. Aside from its loss to the congregation, it also is a loss to the lore of the county's aged architecture. Much has been written in Upper Michigan papers about its pipe organ, supposedly the first such instrument in a U.P. church, possibly the first, too, in the state. Historians are in controversy here. We have refrained from comment until now so as not to seem to be intruding upon the congregation's business. It appears that the parish has diminished greatly in numbers since the turn of the century and presently to re-establish the church at some other site and in keeping with the needs and potential of the church is being considered. Our interest in the property is as an historical monument. Strategically situated, the City of Marquette could acquire it and by voluntary subscription and volunteer labor the building could be turned into a museum to dovetail with the Historical Society headquarters across the street. This is only a suggestion."

Sparkmaker for the ecumenical accents in the diocese is Bishop Thomas L. Noa. He returned from the first session of the Vatican Council in Rome filled with the spirit created by Pope John XXIII and repeating his admonition to "open the windows of the church." This has become the capstone of Bishop Noa's lifework and he is pursuing it with obvious love and devotion and setting a noble example of cooperation among the Christian faiths and all men of good will.

For the first time the Catholic clergy of the diocese will be attending this year's Upper Peninsula Pastors Conference at Northern Michigan University. Catholic priests attended the induction of the new bishop of the Episcopal Diocese of Northern Michigan. Bishop Noa is really opening the windows of the Catholic churches and it is in keeping with the strong beliefs of this religious leader, who moved in many ways to make the churches of his diocese more intimately related with modernity and who has used the full tide of the Vatican Council's call for a worldwide inclusiveness to encourage change. The process has been a little bewildering to Catholics at times, perhaps, but very welcome and bringing great hope of more union among the faiths.

School Athletics Not 'Frill' Says Educator

The school athletic program is not a frill, but a part of the comprehensive curriculum, says a University of Michigan authority.

Dr. Nelson Lehsten says interscholastic athletics "is vital to those enrolled, just as music, art, advanced language study, higher mathematics, and science courses are essential to the educational experiences of those students who pursue them."

Sports programs, he adds, should be broadly conceived rather than narrowly identified at the varsity level.

Lehsten is associate professor of education in the U-M School of Education and head of the University School's Department of Physical Education.

Since World War II high school athletics has moved from a context of the unwanted orphan which the schools housed and fed with reluctance to the recognition of sports by educators as a unique medium for educational experiences, he explains.

"Our better programs have long recognized the principles of individual differences, growth and maturation variability, and ranges of achievement at all age levels," Lehsten says.

"A sports program which caters to the few is a stigma against professional educators and school boards who, in the same school, would not tolerate trigonometry, creative writing, or modern social problems classes as the sole offering in these subject areas."

Lehsten discusses several aspects which have concerned school officials:

Specialization in sports: "The pursuit of excellence in sports is reflected in the increased intensity of practice and competition to the degree that numerous sports are easing their seasonal identification to a year-round basis. The question of specialization in one sport as opposed to the opportunity for participation in a variety of sports in season for high school students is the crux of the issue. Specialization in sports should result from student choice.

Cost and subsidization: "Most schools eventually accept the fact that interscholastic athletics is just not good business over the long haul. In a practical sense, over 80 per cent of the school boards in Michigan have accepted the responsibility for subsidization of athletics over and above the inadequacies of gate receipts.

Coaching qualifications: "The contemporary coach must be an intelligent, professionally prepared educator who is held to ethical and rational conduct by his administration. He must embrace the concept that the activity exists for the player and not vice versa.

Spectator control: "The degree to which the interscholastic athletic program is within the total school curriculum and the extent to which such status is understood by staff, students, and laymen will go a long way toward controlling spectator problems at school sponsored activities.

Expanding athletic facilities, improved sports equipment design and manufacture, and better prepared coaches who communicate the image of being "sincere, competent teachers" have been a part of recent progress in the field of interscholastic athletics, Lehsten says.

'KISS' Unromantic

WASHINGTON — (NEA)—Rep. Richard Hanna, D-Calif., tells this story on one of his colleagues:

As the congressman was about to be introduced as guest speaker at a banquet, his wife passed a message to him from the other end of the head table. The person giving the introduction happened to catch the contents of the note and mentioned it in his remarks.

"I think you folks should know how close the congressman is to his wife," he said. "She just passed him a note which simply said 'KISS', obviously intending to inspire him before this audience."

Getting to his feet, the congressman confessed: "I hate to kick sentiment in teeth, but 'KISS' happens to stand for "Keep It Short, Stupid!"

SEN. STEPHEN YOUNG, D-Ohio, was slightly put out recently when his age was erroneously reported as 76. (Young actually is only 75).

"My stock broker tells me I'm practically in the prime of life," Young pointed out.

"He said an 80-year old man came into his office the other day and asked about some growth stocks. He wanted something which would increase in value for his old age."

WHEN WILLIAM MOYERS found himself surrounded by reporters the other day, the White House aide cracked:

"I feel like a lion in a den of Daniels."

CALIFORNIA'S Gov. Edmund G. (Pat) Brown is proposing withholding of state income taxes for the first time.

One advantage, it seems, would be to get tax receipts from new California residents, who presently pay no taxes until the year after they arrive. Said Brown in his budget message:

"I believe in welcome wagons, but this one costs established taxpayers too much."

IN A RECENT TALK on possible reforms in the House of Representatives, Rep. Richard Bolling, Missouri Democrat, spoke in tones that sounded alternately aggressive and defensive.

He wound up his remarks on a strong aggressive note by saying:

"The House can be a creative force in this nation's affairs."

But, as he sat down, he added in a stage whisper: "If I live long enough."

ARGUING THAT the necessary first step in rebuilding the Republican Party was to attract fresh young candidates, Sen. Thurston B. Morton, R-Ky., noted:

"I'm just amazed every time I look across the aisle and see those young lads the Democrats are digging up. And I do mean lads! Why, they couldn't even get into the race tracks in Kentucky!"

In space language, Mach 1 is the speed of sound.

The recent death of Canada's first National Park Commissioner a man regarded as the father of conservation in the Dominion, reveals the interesting fact that he was an Upper Peninsula boy.

Little Bay de Noc is perhaps one of the most popular winter fishing sites. More than 1,000 shacks, by a recent checkup, dot the area north of Gladstone.

The Hewitt Grocery Company, a wholesale firm that has operated in the Upper Peninsula for the past 40 years, is being liquidated. A branch at Manistiquette ceased operation several months ago and others at Escanaba, Ishpeming and Sault Ste. Marie will close very shortly.

Three children and an adult escaped without injury from a two-apartment house at 1108 Second Ave. S. which was badly damaged by fire yesterday. The first floor was occupied by Mrs. Nels Larson and two children and the upstairs by Cpl. and Mrs. Clyde Merch and baby.

Construction of a large addition to the paper mill at Manistiquette will begin in the very near future, according to announcement by the company.

Ann Landers

Widow Misses Her Helpmate

Dear Ann Landers: I have been a widow for 10 years and I'm raising my four children alone.

Here in America we have all kinds of organizations to help the needy — Red Cross, Salvation Army, Family Service, and even for the Peace Corps for people in other countries.

Why doesn't someone start an organization to help widows? My husband died of a heart attack. He was my partner and my helpmate. Now he's gone.

If the faucet leaks it costs $5 to have it fixed. When appliances break down, the house needs repainting, or the car needs repairing, we widows have to pay the same price as women with husbands.

My sons would love to go hunting and fishing but I can't send them alone. My children are missing out on so many childhood joys because they have no father. Is it fair? Do you feel, as I do, that a national organization should be started to help us? —S. A. Y.

Dear S. A. Y.: I agree that widows should be helped — particularly the widow who must work to support her children — but the type of help she needs can best be provided by a loving family (if she is lucky), considerate friends and thoughtful neighbors.

If widows were given free plumbing services, many divorced women would feel they were entitled to it, too. Then the unwed mother, and the woman whose husband walked out "temporarily," would say, "Me, too."

I am printing your letter as a reminder that fatherless children do miss a great deal, and they should not be forgotten.

Dear Ann Landers: Recently you printed a letter from a young woman who wanted to know if it was proper to correct friends when they mispronounce a word or use improper grammar. She said she'd be grateful if her friends corrected her, but all she gets is dirty looks.

You said most people resent being corrected, particularly in the presence of others. I concur. This little poem (one I learned in high school) says it very well:
Call me a hypocrite, call me a thief,
Sav that of liars, I am the chief;
Call me a scoundrel, say I'm too clever

But regarding my grammar, correct me please — never.

Dear Ann Landers: I'm a 20-year-old college junior. When I was 17 I fell in love with a boy 19. I may still be in love with him but I doubt it.

I am sure, however, that I will never be able to tolerate his family — and the feeling is mutual. To make matters worse, my family dislikes him intensely and they make no secret of it.

My boy friend knows of the bad feelings on both sides but he insists we can manage because "we will be marrying each other — not our families."

Last weekend I suggested that we break up. He said, "If you dump me I will quit school and be a bum."

I don't want this on my conscience, Ann, yet I feel he is not the one for me and perhaps I am using this family stuff as an excuse to stop seeing him. Can you help me think my way through this muddled-up mess. —QUANDRYVILLE

Dear Q.: Don't let the boy shift the responsibility for his future on to you. He could graduate from college and still be a bum.

You are only 20 years old, Toots. Where's the fire? Your letter is proof that you are loaded with doubts. A great many marriages fail, even when they seem to have everything going for them.

Put your decision on ice for at least a year, then see.

"The Bride's Guide," ANN LANDERS' booklet, gives authoritative and complete information on how to plan a wedding. To receive your copy of this comprehensive guide, write to Ann Landers, in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 35c in coin.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped self-addressed envelope.

SONIC BOOM

Sonic boom occurs when an airplane is flying faster than sound, or about 660 miles per hour. All bodies moving through air create disturbances which radiate outward at the speed of sound, but a supersonic plane goes faster than the disturbances it is creating and thus forms shock waves or sonic boom.

Family Planning Devices Given Free In Chicago

CHICAGO (AP) — A program to provide free birth control devices and information to any person in Chicago has been approved by the City Board of Health.

The board rejected the term "birth control," saying it has a negative connotation, and referred to the program as "family planning" in voting approval Wednesday. The vote was 7-0 with one abstention.

"This program will have certain guarantees that the promiscuous, or immature who wish to be promiscuous, will not be helped by the Board of Health," said Dr. Erick Oldberg, president of the board.

The board said it will concern itself solely with the matter from the medical and health standpoint.

Dr. Oldberg said patients would be limited to women who had both medical and family screening, but added that information and devices would be free to any Chicago resident who asked for them, regardless of marital status, age or financial status.

From an old cook book: When you roast turkey rub the bird with butter and place it on a rack in a dripping pan with the breast turned down so that the butter and juices will run downward to moisten the delicate white meat. When the breast has browned nicely, turn the bird on its back. Baste often!

Fluffy gingerbread, crisp ginger cookies and spicy molasses sponge cake all make delicious accompaniments for apple-sauce.

Wood Industry Growth In U.P. Isn't Automatic

By JEAN WORTH

While straight line projections of growth in Upper Peninsula forests forecast some exciting prospects, Michigan's economic seers warn that there are some obstacles on the road to wood industry created by the area's new volume of wood production.

They say that it won't happen naturally, that it must be managed in a situation of lively competition.

Dr. Terrill D. Stevens, head of the Forestry Department at Michigan State University, told a Cheboygan meeting on development of Northern Michigan recently that the forests of Michigan have made a remarkable comeback since the virgin stands were cut less than a century ago.

Sawtimber growth now exceeds harvest, plus losses to natural causes, 54 per cent of the land area of the state is forested (the U. P. most heavily) and forest industries bring $310 million in payrolls yearly and provide full-time jobs for nearly 127,000 Michigan people.

Wealth From Wood

Then Dr. Alex J. Panshin, forest products utilization chief at MSU defined the problems of the great forest industry growth that's possible for Northern Michigan.

"The most important single contribution our forests could make to the economy of the state," said Panshin "is based on the production and utilization of wood." This is at variance with belief expressed at the same conference that the recreational value of forests may outstrip their value as wood producers.

But even a surplus of wood, said Panshin "is no guarantee that wood utilization on an expanded basis is possible in Northern Michigan. There are many economic and management problems that need to be solved before means for more extensive use of available raw material resources could be found."

He says it can be assumed that prices paid for wood delivered to the plants will go up, and that the cost of converting wood into saleable goods will also continue to rise. While this is going on, wood products will have to contend with ever-increasing competition from non-wood products.

Paper Progressive

Wood processing industries, said Panshin, excluding pulp and paper and related industries, generally lag behind competing non-wood industries in technology. The primary reasons for this is the basic nature of the wood using industries — composed of thousands of small companies. There are, for instance, more individual sawmills than any other kind of enterprise in America. As a result no single establishment has a significant influence on the overall market price of its product.

With few brand names on their products, wood industries don't have incentive to spend money for research and development and for a very long time it was regarded as unimportant for survival of the industry. Even as prices went up customers accepted them as inevitable because there was no substitute for wood.

But in recent years, says Panshin, this picture has changed radically with advancement in the technology of competing materials and the resulting losses of traditional wood products markets.

Ratio Harmful

Another problem is that wood industries have one of the highest labor-to-capital ratios in the nation. In 1962 when the value added per man-hour for all American industry was $7.38, the figure for wood industries was only $3.75.

The amount of material waste in wood industry is another troubling problem. This is being reduced, but most lumber and plywood concerns still lose half or more of their basic raw material as waste in some form.

In the past half century and more there have been no significant advances nor really new approaches in mechanical conversion of wood. "With no substantial increase in productivity in more than 50 years, it is rather obvious that unless some significant technological breakthrough occurs, the cost of processing wood will continue to rise, further impairing the ability of wood products to compete," said Panshin.

He said another big problem in the Upper Peninsula is that so much of its wood moves to Wisconsin for manufacture, so that the value added by manufacture is lost to Michigan and given to Wisconsin, which gets the industrial jobs resulting from the manufacture.

U-M Nursing Seniors Work In Field Sites

ANN ARBOR—Twice a week for 15 weeks, seniors in the University of Michigan School of Nursing don blue uniforms with jaunty overseas caps and travel to nearby cities to put in a demanding day as public health nurses.

Groups of five to eight girls report to the offices of city and county health departments in Detroit, Jackson, Dearborn, Washtenaw and Wayne.

There they receive assignments for home and clinic visits around the community, check their nursing bags, their maps, and the physicians' orders on their patients, then begin their rounds.

They give injections, medications, health instruction and—what is sometimes most important of all—a sympathetic attention to the patient's needs, progress and symptoms.

On their public health rounds, the U-M girls have the triple role of student, nurse, and teacher. They counsel patients and their families on good health practices, administer home nursing care, and gain a new perspective on the impact of illness on the total family situation.

Packed into their trim black leather nursing kits are thermometers, cotton, bandages, applicators, alcohol, soap, towels, and full-length disposable aprons. When needed by a particular patient, the nurses also add such special items as catheters, blood pressure apparatus and other instruments.

The federal government owns an estimated 770 million acres of land.

Senate Accepts 31 Appointees Of Gov. Romney

LANSING (AP)—The Senate approved 31 of Gov. George Romney's appointments Monday after Democrats worked out intra-party differences over two of them. The vote was 33-0 when three Democrats took a convenient walk outside the chamber.

The three—Sens. Roger Craig and Edward Robinson, both of Dearborn, and Sen. Coleman Young, Detroit—had been outspoken in caucus against appointments of Democrat Paul Mahinski and Republican Meyer Warshawsky to the Workmen's Compensation Appeal Board.

Mahinski was opposed for his support of the 1963 Constitution, Warshawsky because he earlier quit the board to run for attorney general.

Floor Fight Avoided

Democratic leadership, however, lined up solidly behind the appointment package and convinced the three dissidents not to create a floor fight.

The appointments approved, including expiration date of term.

Teachers' Fund Is Shrinking

LANSING (AP)—The state should start paying the Teachers' Retirement Fund the nearly half-billion dollars it owes in order to avert a cash crisis by 1967, the fund's executive secretary declared Tuesday.

But State Controller Glenn Allen and Senate Appropriations Chairman Garland Lane, D-Flint, called the report of Lawrence Van Zwoll an exaggeration, not financial tightness, for difficulty they said might come in six or seven years.

Detroit Separate

The complicated matter of pension funding, has provoked battles for years and is an expensive proposition Gov. George Romney's 1965-66 budget proposes $68 million as the School Aid Fund's contribution to the plan for public school employees.

These are the basic arguments and background:

The City of Detroit operates one pension fund and all state pension funds another. The state contributes to each in slightly varying amounts because of differences in projections of how many employees will draw retirement benefits when and for how long.

Van Zwoll outlined to the Senate Appropriations Committee the position of the outstate fund, which is ticketed to receive $57 million of Romney's proposed retirement fund appropriation. He said the Detroit fund is in about the same shape as the outstate fund.

Slips To $1 Million

Van Zwoll's complaint is that the fund is not actuarially sound—that is, it does not now contain all the money which would be necessary to pay full potential retirement benefits to all active and retired employees.

The new constitution requires that each year's state contributions now must be actuarially sound based on the employee payroll—but it also requires that this money be retained for payment to the employees for whom it was contributed. That means state contributions this year cannot be used to pay retirement benefits for some teacher who retired two years ago.

The current retirement benefits are being paid from a cash-on-hand fund which Van Zwoll said stood at $95 million on June 30 and had slipped to $81 million by Nov. 30. He predicted this fund would run out within two years unless the legislature revised its contribution pattern.

State Briefs

LANSING (AP)—Michigan milk production last month was 10 per cent above the average for January, although at 464 million pounds, it was nearly one per cent less than last year, says the Federal-State CMRIO Reporting Service. Egg production rose eight per cent above a year cent above a year ago, to 119 million eggs.

LANSING (AP)—Gov. George Romney Tuesday urged Michigan residents to "support the Red Cross in its many campaigns and activities across this state," as he proclaimed March Red Cross month. "Throughout its 84 years of unselfish service to our state and nation, the Red Cross has earned the respect and gratitude of our citizens," the proclamation read.

LANSING (AP)—The State Highway Department says it will open bids March 10 at Lansing on nine projects with construction costs estimated at more than $6 million. The large project will be for bridge deck concrete, lighting and fencing on the Rouge River Bridge carrying 175 over the Rouge River in Detroit, to cost some $4.6 million.

LANSING (AP)—State treasury income during the past week was $29 million and outgo was $25.8 million. The state treasury balance at the end of the month was $215.9 million.

Detroit Woman Found Dead In Her Car Trunk

DETROIT (AP)—The body of an attractive suburban housewife was found in the trunk of her car Tuesday by Detroit police.

Mrs. Irene M. Auhill, 44, missing since Dec. 31, has been dead two or three weeks, according to the Wayne County medical examiner. She apparently was alive when she was locked in the trunk, police said.

Officers say they first noticed the car in a parking lot two weeks ago. They discovered the body while making a routine investigation Tuesday.

The woman's husband, Lee Roy Auhill, 45, told police he had last seen his wife on Dec. 31, but that it was not unusual for her to be gone for periods up to a week. He reported her missing Jan. 6.

Governor Pays Tribute To UM Football Team

ANN ARBOR (AP)—Because it was Inauguration Day, Gov. George Romney didn't have a chance to see Michigan win the Rose Bowl game this year. But the governor still wanted to honor Michigan's football team.

He did so at a breakfast here Wednesday, presenting James Conley, the team captain, with a check for $1,000.

The check was donated by Mr. and Mrs. Albert J. Koertz of Flint in honor of their son, Peter, a Michigan graduate who later was killed in an automobile accident.

The governor told Conley that the money could be used in any way he and the football squad decided.

What's Cookin'

Few of us can afford to take a trip to Hawaii, but we can all enjoy the wonderful food of the Islands right here at home.

Sweet-sour pork is a typical food.

by Janet Campbell

SWEET-SOUR PORK

1 1/2 lbs. lean pork steaks, cut in strips 2" long 1/2" wide

2 tbsp. fat

1 cup water

2 tbsp. cornstarch

1/2 tsp. salt

1/4 cup brown sugar

1 to 1 1/2 cup vinegar

1 cup pineapple juice

1/2 tsp. soy sauce

3/4 cup green pepper, cut in strips

1/2 cup thinly sliced onion

1 No. 2 can pineapple chunks

Brown pork in hot fat. Add water, cover, simmer 1 hour. Combine cornstarch, salt, brown sugar, vinegar, pineapple juice, soy sauce, mrs. Cook until slightly thick, stirring constantly.

Pour sauce over hot pork; let stand at least 10 minutes. Add green pepper, onion, pineapple chunks, cook 2 to 3 minutes. Serve with hot rice. Serves 6.

Super Tip—A Hawaiian Luau is the traditional feast in Hawaii. We cannot really attempt an authentic Luau here for that is entirely too much work, but we can have a streamlined Luau and use some of the foods used in the Islands such as pork, chicken, pineapple, banana, rice, mashed sweet potato, banana, coconut, green beans with soy sauce.

Stamp of Approval— Leonard Fellman, a free lance artist from Minnesota, sent this unsolicited stamp design to Postmaster General John A. Gronouski, then crossed his fingers hopefully. It is a rarity for unsolicited designs to be accepted, but Fellman's artwork will appear on the Appomattox commemorative stamp.

Ford Invests In Auto Racing

DETROIT (AP) — Ford Motor Co. has spent more than half a million dollars to back up its hopes that a Ford-powered car will win the Indianapolis 500 this year.

Ford-engined cars finished in the runnerup spot in 1963 and 1964. Ford admittedly is on an all-out drive for the No. 1 place on May 31.

Some of racing's top names—A.J. Foyt, Dan Gurney, Jimmy Clark, Roger Ward and Lloyd Ruby included—are among the drivers who will be using Ford's new Fairlane racing engine at Indy.

Ford had some of the racers and their mechanics in Detroit this week for a seminar on how to get the best performance out of the powerful new engine.

There were some hints from Ford officials that this might be their last year of all-out efforts to get a winner at Indy.

Boston Cardinal In Hospital; May Have Surgery

BOSTON (AP) — Richard Cardinal Cushing is reported "in excellent spirits" in St. Elizabeth's Hospital where he may undergo surgery.

No indication was given of the 69-year-old prelate's ailment when he entered the hospital Wednesday. The chancery of the Roman Catholic archdiocese said doctors would conduct tests "in order to make a decision on surgery."

Also hospitalized is Albert Cardinal Meyer, archbishop of Chicago, who entered Mercy Hospital in Chicago Wednesday night for what was described as a followup checkup.

Cardinal Meyer's personal physician, Dr. John Keeley, said he advised the prelate to enter the hospital "to cure a sinus ailment."

Cardinal Meyer, 61, was treated at the hospital last month for a gall bladder ailment and was released Jan. 18 after a 12-day stay.

He has been plagued by recurrent gall bladder trouble in recent years.

In Boston, Cardinal Cushing was described by his chancery as hoping for a brief stay in the hospital. The chancery said, "his doctors have no reason to think otherwise even if there is surgery. If surgery is indicated it will be done as soon as possible."

Senate Accepts 31 Appointees Of Gov. Romney

LANSING (AP)—The Senate approved 31 of Gov. George Romney's appointments Monday after Democrats worked out intra-party differences over two of them. The vote was 33-0 when three Democrats took a convenient walk outside the chamber.

The three—Sens. Roger Craig and Edward Robinson, both of Dearborn, and Sen. Coleman Young, Detroit—had been outspoken in caucus against appointments of Democrat Paul Mahinski and Republican Meyer Warshawsky to the Workmen's Compensation Appeal Board.

Mahinski was opposed for his support of the 1963 Constitution, Warshawsky because he earlier quit the board to run for attorney general.

Floor Fight Avoided

Democratic leadership, however, lined up solidly behind the appointment package and convinced the three dissidents not to create a floor fight.

The appointments approved, including expiration date of term:

Teachers' Fund Is Shrinking

LANSING (AP)—The state should start paying the Teachers' Retirement Fund the nearly half-billion dollars it owes in order to avert a cash crisis by 1967, the fund's executive secretary declared Tuesday.

But State Controller Glenn Allen and Senate Appropriations Chairman Garland Lane, D-Flint, called the report of Lawrence Van Zwoil an exaggeration, for difficulty they said might come in six or seven years.

Detroit Separate

The complicated matter of pension funding, has provoked battles for years and is an expensive proposition. Gov. George Romney's 1965-66 budget proposes $68 million as the School Aid Fund's contribution to the plan for public school employees.

These are the basic arguments and background:

The City of Detroit operates one pension fund and all out-state points another. The state contributes to each in slightly varying amounts because of differences in projections of how many employees will draw retirement benefits when and for how long.

Van Zwoil outlined to the Senate Appropriations Committee the position of the outstate fund, which is ticketed to receive $57 million of Romney's proposed retirement fund appropriation. He said the Detroit fund is in about the same shape as the outstate fund.

Slips To $1 Million

Van Zwoil's complaint is that the fund is not actuarially sound—that is, it does not contain all the money which would be necessary to pay full potential retirement benefits to all active and retired employees.

The new constitution requires that each year's state contributions now must be actuarially sound based on the employee payroll—but it also requires that this money be retained for payment to the employees for whom it was contributed. That means state contributions this year cannot be used to pay retirement benefits for some teacher who retired two years ago.

The current retirement benefits are being paid from a cash-on-hand fund which Van Zwoil said stood at $95 million on June 30 and had slipped to $81 million by Nov. 30. He predicted this fund would run out within two years unless the legislature revised its contribution pattern.

State Briefs

LANSING (AP)—Michigan milk production last month was 10 per cent above the average for January, although at 464 million pounds, it was nearly one per cent less than last year, says the Federal-State CMRIO Reporting Service. Egg production rose eight per cent above a year ago to 119 million eggs.

LANSING (AP)—Gov. George Romney Tuesday urged Michigan residents to "support the Red Cross in its many campaigns and activities across this state," as he proclaimed March Red Cross month. "Throughout its 84 years of unselfish service to our state and nation, the Red Cross has earned the respect and gratitude of our citizens," the proclamation read.

LANSING (AP)—The State Highway Department says it will open bids March 10 at Lansing on nine projects with construction costs estimated at more than $6 million. The largest project will be for bridge deck concrete, lighting and fencing on the Rouge River Bridge carrying 175 over the Rouge River in Detroit, to cost some $4.6 million.

LANSING (AP)—State treasury income during the past week was $29 million and outgo was $25.8 million. The state treasury balance at the end of the month was $215.9 million.

Detroit Woman Found Dead In Her Car Trunk

DETROIT (AP)—The body of an attractive suburban housewife was found in the trunk of her car Tuesday by Detroit police.

Mrs. Irene M. Auhill, 44, missing since Dec. 31, has been dead two or three weeks, according to the Wayne County medical examiner. She apparently was alive when she was locked in the trunk, police said.

Officers say they first noticed the car in a parking lot two weeks ago. They discovered the body while making a routine investigation Tuesday.

The woman's husband, Lee Roy Auhill, 45, told police he had last seen his wife on Dec. 31, but that it was not unusual for her to be gone for periods up to a week. He reported her missing Jan. 6.

What's Cookin'

Few of us can afford to take a trip to Hawaii, but we can all enjoy the wonderful food of the islands right here at home.

Sweet-sour pork is a typical food.

by Janet Campbell

SWEET-SOUR PORK

1 1/2 lbs. lean pork steak, cut in strips 2" long, 1/2" wide

2 tbsp. fat

1 cup water

2 tbsp. cornstarch

1/2 tsp. salt

1/4 cup brown sugar

1/4 cup vinegar

1 cup pineapple juice

1 tbsp. soy sauce

3/4 cup green pepper, cut in strips

1/2 cup thinly sliced onion

1 No. 2 can pineapple chunks

Brown pork in hot fat. Add water, cover, simmer 1 hour. Combine cornstarch, salt, brown sugar, vinegar, pineapple juice, soy sauce; mix. Cook until slightly thick, stirring constantly.

Pour sauce over hot pork; let stand at least 10 minutes. Add green pepper, onion, pineapple chunks; cook 2 to 3 minutes. Serve with hot rice. Serves 6.

Super Tip:—Hawaiian Luau is the traditional feast in Hawaii. We cannot really attempt an authentic Luau here for that is entirely too much work, but we can have a streamlined Luau and use some of the foods used in the islands such as pork, chicken, pineapple, shrimp, rice, mashed sweet potato, banana, coconut, green beans with soy sauce.

JUST IN FROM HAWAII

Fresh Pineapple

Enjoy the royal fruit of tropical Hawaii—fresh, naturally sweet pineapple! Your family will love this healthful fruit in salads, with ham, in upside-down cake and in fresh pineapple sundaes.

School Support Key To Future, Says Dr. Pfau

The annual P. T. A. Founder's Day program, held Wednesday evening at the Escanaba Area Senior High School, had Robert Haack as general chairman, and heard Mrs. Leo Niquette, Council president, extend the welcome entitled "We in P. T. A. Have Strength."

She spoke of the purpose, teamwork and action in P. T. A. and that the main concern is a fair and equal chance for every child to develop. Education is the tool the P. T. A. uses to bring about this chance.

Dr. Edgar Harden, Northern Michigan University president, was unable to be present because of illness. Dr. Edward Pfau, also of N. M. U., substituted as guest speaker.

Dr. Pfau said we should honor or the past, assess today and plan for the future. Education is the future of Escanaba, and part of today is the new senior high school building and the Bay de Noc Community College, both of which provide programs of excellence. There is cause for concern because of the narrow margin of victory in the recent school millage election, he said.

Escanaba Area Senior High School has 1,200 pupils in grades 9-12 and 4,100 in grades K-12. Escanaba is one of three cities in the Upper Peninsula able to have a first-rate school because of the number of pupils enrolled, at a rate of slightly more than $12,000 per resident child.

Educational Needs

Escanaba Area has the ingredients for an excellent educational program. The choice is ours and the responsibility is ours. "Excellency," said Dr. Pfau, "must be planned. You can have it if you want it." First there must be understanding by the citizens, then community agreement and a willingness to support the program. The building does not make the school but rather the human needs of human beings. The present high school building was constructed to house the needs of students for the next 50 years. These students will be graduating into a world constantly becoming more technical and complicated. We must depend on our teachers, but the citizens must provide the financial and personal support, based on understanding, Dr. Pfau said. Program diversity is needed because opportunities for employment are disappearing for those who are not college-bound.

The young person in Escanaba has a birthright: Free public education. An adaptable program is needed to keep pace with a changing society. The future of this community depends upon its educational system, which is the charge and responsibility of the P. T. A.

Musical entertainment was provided by a group of elementary pupils under the direction of Mrs. M. H. Garrard and Mrs. John Broker. Mrs. George Embs directed the Escanaba Senior High School String Ensemble.

Present Awards

Distinguished service medals were presented by Robert Haack to Mrs. Leo Niquette, Mrs. Carlton Johnson and Dr. Donald Fitch for their work with youth in the community.

Awarded awards were announced by Mrs. Stanley H. Johnson. The following schools received awards: Pine Ridge, first, with 31.8 per cent of members present; Webster, second, with 28.9 per cent and Lemmer, third, with 12.6 per cent.

Schools in charge of various activities were: Ford River, publicity; Jefferson, hospitality; Washington, Founder's Day gift (announced by Mrs. Fred Van Effen); Soo Hill, registration; Social, Lemmer, Wells, Pine Ridge.

The Lemmer School was also in charge of the decorations for the coffee hour, which featured a patriotic theme of red, white and blue. On the lunch committee were Mesdames Alfred Gossan, Glenn Ahlin, Leo Neubauer, Edward O'Connell, Clifford Larson, John Gilbert, Andre Quagebeur, George Winling and Robert Barron.

At the silver service were Mrs. Leo Niquette, president, and Mrs. Tom Brayak, first vice president. Other council officers are Mrs. William Miller, secretary and Mrs. Stanley H. Johnson, treasurer.

LANSING — The new chairman of the House Conservation Committee, Rep. Joseph M. Snyder, has pledged close cooperation between his committee and organized sportsmen in solving the natural resource problems of the state.

The St. Clair Shores Democrat addressing the Michigan United Conservation Clubs here Feb. 13-14, singled out the protection of state natural resource agencies in the reorganization of state government under the new constitution as the most pressing conservation problem this year.

Assistant Attorney General Nicholas V. Olds warned the MUCC Board that a "very alarming situation" is developing in Washington, D. C., where a number of federal officials are of the opinion that state game and fish laws should not apply on federal lands, and are working toward this end.

Citing that federal land ownership runs up as high as 90 per cent, as in Alaska, Olds declared that the day may be coming when states may lose control of much of the wildlife within their boundaries, and hunting and licensing may be controlled from a Washington bureau.

Olds also warned of the impending loss of traditional state prerogatives to encroaching federal power in the fields of gun legislation and water pollution control.

Game Section Chief Harry Ruhl revealed tentative Conservation Department ideas for a limited turkey hunting season, should legislation which will be sponsored by MUCC be enacted.

Ruhl said there are presently about 2,700 turkeys in four pockets around the state. The flock in the Allegan State Forest, he said, apparently has reached the saturation point, and several hundred could safely be cropped each year.

He visualized an "any-bird" season early in November, with a limit of one turkey being taken by shotgun — and maybe bow and arrow — by a small number of hunters selected through a permit system such as that used in the recent elk season.

Golfers Sued For $200,000

IRON MOUNTAIN — The Upper Peninsula Golf Association and its member clubs have been named co-defendant in a $200,000 law suit resulting from an accident in the U. P. Men's Golf Tournament last August at the Portage Lake golf course in Houghton.

Escanaba Country Club, Highland Golf Club and Gladstone Golf Club are all members of the U. P. Association.

Plaintiff in the suit is Gene Rock, 14, of Ishpeming, son of Mrs. Peggy Rock of Iron Mountain and Vertin Rock of Ishpeming.

Defendants, beside the U. P. Golf Association, are the Ontonagon, Calumet and Portage Lake golf clubs, hosts for the tournament, and Michigan Tech University, owner of the golf course.

The complaint charges the numerous defendants with negligence in taking proper precautions for safety of spectators, particularly failure to have a roped off safety zone.

The plaintiff was struck in the head Aug. 10 by a golf ball driven off the No. 7 tee by his father, a participant in the tourney. The youth was caddyng for his father when struck.

Critically injured, the boy was flown to Rochester, Minn., for medical attention and surgery. The suit asks $200,000 judgment for permanent injuries, loss of earning power and medical and hospital expenses as the result of the accident.

Disturbed Child Center Opened At Mental Hospital

York Woods Center, a treatment-residence for emotionally disturbed children, opened at Ypsilanti State Hospital Feb. 15. This is the first of five planned special facilities for children at Michigan's state hospitals.

Other new facilities are projected for state hospitals at Pontiac, Northville, Traverse City and Newberry. Tower Heights Center at Kalamazoo State Hospital, in a remodeled structure, has been in operation for two years.

The Department plans to develop comprehensive treatment services, both inpatient and outpatient, at all of these centers," said Dr. James A. Peal, assistant director, Department of Mental Health.

Children will be housed in four dormitory wings accommodating 20 children each. There is a central kitchen and dining area. School and recreation facilities are in a connecting unit.

York Woods is on the hospital grounds one and a half miles from the main buildings. Funds for construction of the $1,300,000 Center came from the state and federal governments. The legislature appropriated $900,000; Hill Burton federal construction funds supplied $400,000.

Histoplasmosis Is Explained

"Histoplasmosis is a fungus disease which usually attacks the lungs," Dr. Mary Cretens, director of the Delta-Menominee Health Dept. said today.

"Although in some part of the United States it is an extremely common infection, seldom is there much in the way of symptoms of the disease."

Dr. Cretens made the statements in response to questions regarding the disease and the histoplasmin testing program planned by the Health Dept. in cooperation with Delta County schools for March and April. Grades nine through 12 will be tested to determine if the disease is common in the Upper Peninsula.

"Each person having the infection (histoplasmosis) develops a sensitivity to histoplasmin which is a material prepared from the killed histoplasmosis fungus," Dr. Cretens stated.

"Occasionally, histoplasmosis can cause a progressive infection. It gives a picture in the lungs and other parts of the body similar to tuberculosis, but can be differentiated from tuberculosis by X-ray, sputum studies, skin tests and blood tests," she said.

"The disease differs from tuberculosis in one important aspect — that is, it is not transmissible directly from one person to another. The way it is usually spread is through infected soil. Old chicken houses, cases which harbor birds and bats, starling roosts, and other areas where there are droppings from birds are common sources. Minimizing dust and avoiding sources of infection reduce the chance of getting the disease or at least its serious forms.

"Histoplasmosis can cause death, but most recover and have only mild flu-like symptoms for a few weeks," Dr. Cretens said. "Modern drugs are quite successful in treatment of the disease."

Kiwanis' Aid To Escanaba Told

The "Golden Anniversary of Kiwanis" was subject of a talk by E. G. Bennett to the Senior Citizens Committee of the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce at the Chamber building Tuesday. Rev. Karl J. Hammar presided.

Bennett said that Kiwanis was founded Jan. 21, 1915. All service clubs have definite objectives, he said. Rotary, working with handicapped children, founded Camp Harstad. The Lions Club has a sight saving program and seeing eye dogs. Kiwanis works with underprivileged children and a hearing aid project. These three service clubs, with many others, have aided the school for retarded children, which is a special project of the Exchange Club.

The service clubs are composed of businessmen of various faiths. Bennett said that Escanaba has a great community spirit and is known for its civic interest. He said that the Senior Citizens Committee of the Chamber is a contributing factor to this spirit.

Kiwanis was founded by 100 men who organized for material business gain, but in 1917 they decided that they could not grow with only material goals, and that they must become a club of community service. Today, Kiwanis has 5,400 clubs with 250,000 members in the United States and Canada. The Kiwanis motto is "We Build."

Bennett said that one of the 1965 goals of Kiwanis is to educate youth in the tenets of capitalism, or the free enterprise system, as youth is self-reliant and can be depended upon if given proper training.

The local club was founded in 1922 with 25 members, of whom John Bartella is the remaining charter member. Bennett has been a Kiwanian for 41 years. Accomplishments of the local club include formation of the Kiwanis Boys Band by Bartella and the late George Harvey, Sr., which became the nucleus of the present high school band. The Escanaba Smelt Run Jamboree was assisted by Kiwanians Karl Hammar and William Duchaine.

The hearing aid facilities at John A. Lemmer School were aided by the club. A special fund for milk and clothing was financed by the Kiwanis gum machines. Kiwanis assists the Salvation Army, and sponsors pancake days to raise money for its children's fund. A group of Kiwanians goes to Marquette Prison each Tuesday to counsel with prisoners and a recent objective is the establishment of key clubs in the high schools.

Bennett cited the good work being done by Junior Achievement in teaching youth the principles of manufacturing and distribution.

On Feb. 27, the Senior Citizens will host officers and their wives from K. I. Sawyer Air Force Base on a tour of the city and a noon luncheon. Drivers and narrators for the tour will be Emil Christensen, Arthur Aronson, Walter Wickert, Tom Berghouse, Rudolph Smith and Lawrence Jacobs.

Mayor George Rusch will talk to the Senior Citizens March 2 on "Urban Renewal."

Red Underground Revolution Plot Crushed In India

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — The Indian government charged today that pro-Chinese Communists plotting a revolution went through the countryside circulating guerrilla warfare instructions written by Cuba's Ernesto Guevara.

Home Minister G. L. Nanda told Parliament the government stopped the plot and crushed an extensive Red underground with the arrest of about 900 pro-Peking Communists beginning Dec. 30.

The government was convinced, Nanda said, that the Communists posed a crucial threat to "vital interests of the nation."

Nanda said the Calcutta area of poverty-stricken West Bengal was the area where Guevara's "guerrilla warfare" manual was circulated.

Poisoned Candy Kills Barmaid And 2 Children

ODESSA, Tex. (AP) — Police blamed cyanide poisoning, possibly in a box of Valentine candy, for the deaths of a barmaid and two children whose bodies were found in their apartment Wednesday night.

Doctors said a third child might survive.

Detective Capt. Olen Miles said medical examination detected the presence of cyanide in the body of Kaye Raschke, 24.

Fellow employees, checking after she failed to report for her first night of work at a lounge, broke into the apartment and found her dead on the living room floor.

Bodies of her daughter Candy Moore, 4, and son, Mike Moore, 2, lay beneath a bed. A doctor said they died Tuesday night or early Wednesday.

Her son Butch Moore, 5, was taken to a hospital in serious condition. He was lying on the bed.

Hermansville, Eben Eye League Crowns In Weekend Action

Hermansville is one of a half dozen Upper Peninsula high school basketball teams poised to clinch conference championships this weekend.

Coach Don Hill's high scoring Redskins need only one more scalp to assure themselves of sole possession of the Big Seven Conference title. They can make it with a victory at Channing Friday night.

That could be a tough assignment for the once-beaten Redskins however. Channing has lost only once in league play this season, bowing to Hermansville in a free-wheeling 109-90 battle on Dec. 17.

WORKING MAN—Yogi Berra's official capacity with the New York Mets is player-coach, so the 40-year-old catcher, who spent last year managing the Yankees, is working to get back into playing shape.

Perkins Upsets Garden Quintet

PERKINS — The Perkins Yellowjackets upset the Garden Jets 73-66 in a Central League game here Wednesday night as Dick LaChance went on a 32 point scoring binge.

Coach Julian Vandecaveye's cagers staged a second half comeback after trailing the Jets by four points at the end of the first quarter and five at the intermission.

LaChance tossed in nine points and Tom Teeple five as Perkins surged into a 51-50 lead at the three quarter mark. The Yellowjackets cemented the triumph with 22 points in the final frame as LaChance tossed in 10 and Richard Krouth added six.

Gibson Named Bowling Great

MILWAUKEE (AP) —Therman Gibson, 48, of Detroit, a three-time ABC tournament champion and one of the event's highest scorers for nearly three decades, was named Wednesday as the 29th member of the American Bowling Congress Hall of Fame.

Gibson received 69 of the votes cast by the nation's bowling writers, sportscasters, ABC officials and Hall of Fame members in a runoff forced because none of nine candidates received the necessary 75 per cent of votes cast on the first ballot.

He edged a longtime Detroit teammate, Fred Bujaek, now of St. Louis, who won four ABC tournament titles. Bujaek received 63 votes. Two-time all-star tournament champion Connie Schwoegler of Madison Wis., was third with 59 votes.

The New York Yankees have three first-year players on their 1965 roster. They are pitcher Gil Blanco of Phoenix, infielder Bobby Murcer of Oklahoma City and outfielder Ross Moschitto of Atwater, Calif.

Wildcats Ride Winning Streak To Tech Friday

MARQUETTE — Riding an eight-game winning string after downing the University of Minnesota-Duluth 89-87 in their home finale Monday night, Northern Michigan University's Wildcats are preparing for three away games to close out regular-season competition.

NMU travels to Houghton Friday night to meet Michigan Tech, before a swing through the lower peninsula with stops at Central Michigan Monday night and Ferris State Tuesday night.

The Wildcats have beaten two of the three foes in previous meetings, winning 98-71 over Tech and topping Ferris twice, 85-69 and 95-90. All three victories came at the NMU Field-house.

Michigan Tech has only one victory in 18 games, but boasts a pair of fine performers in Larry Laurich and Sandy Johnson. Laurich led Marquette Pierce to the 1961 Michigan Class "D" state championship and Johnson was an all-state selection at Lansing Everett. Both are in their 4th season at Tech.

New Scandal Hits College Basketball

SEATTLE (AP) — Two Seattle University basketball stars and a Chicago tavern owner were arrested Wednesday night on bribery conspiracy charges involving a game with the University of Idaho.

Charles Williams, captain of the Chieftains; a teammate, Peller Phillips, and Leo Casale, 24, of Chicago, were arrested in connection with the Jan. 22 game in Seattle. Casale was arrested in Chicago.

Seattle won the game 89-72.

Williams and Phillips were arraigned Wednesday night, and U.S. Commissioner Walter Reseburg Jr. released them on $1,000 bond each. The two Seattle players asked for a preliminary hearing, which Reseburg set for 4:30 p.m. EST March 1.

Casale is to be arraigned today in Chicago, the Federal Bureau of Investigation said.

The charge against Casale and the two 21-year-old Seattle University seniors is "that they did conspire with each other to carry into effect a scheme or plan in commerce to influence a sporting contest by bribery."

The FBI said the maximum penalty is a $10,000 fine or five years in prison or both.

Williams is the son of a minister and is married and has one child. His major study is sociology, and he planned a career in social work after graduation.

Seattle U. is a Jesuit institution, and Williams has been working part time as an assistant recreational director for the Catholic Youth Organization.

Phillips also is married, and his major studies are physical education and history. He is a fast 5-foot-10, 167-pound student from Detroit, by way of Colingia Junior College in California.

Williams, a 6-foot, 154-pounder, was born in Colorado Springs, Colo., and played at Stadium High School in Tacoma. He is Seattle's high scorer, averaging 20 points per game and has been prominently mentioned as a contender for All-America honors.

Williams's highest number of points this season was 38 against Duquesne in Pittsburgh, a game Seattle lost 80-74. In the Idaho game, he scored 16 points, and Phillips accounted for eight.

Seattle has won its last 11 games and has an 18-7 season record.

Williams could not be reached for comment, and Phillips's wife said he would have no statement to make.

Eddie O'Brien, athletic director and a former basketball star for Seattle, said both boys were suspended from the team and the university for "admittedly having knowledge of a bribe attempt and for failing to report it."

But O'Brien added: "We're not judging them. That's not our business."

Milnes said officials of the university cooperated fully in the investigation.

Williams was a high school star in Tacoma and has been a favorite with Seattle fans the past three years. His sensational steals and fancy dribbling have attracted much notice.

Volunteer Food Plan Aids 200

Father Marian Douglas, O. F.M., son of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Douglas, Bark River, has initiated a volunteer food program at a Franciscan school in Cincinnati.

One hundred and eight women have been taking their turns since last October in distributing food to over 200 youngsters each school day at St. Francis Seraph Parochial School, Cincinnati. These lay volunteers are from 16 fraternities of the Third Order of St. Francis in the Greater Cincinnati area.

Father Douglas is assistant pastor at nearby St. Bonaventure Church in that city and is director of the Third Order group in the parish.

The daily menu included soup, sandwich and milk; occasionally fruit and cookies are added to this luncheon program. These youngsters are asked to pay 10 cents for the meal, but children are not deprived of this food if they are unable to pay.

"This task was undertaken without federal help. When we started this project last autumn, we fed 180 grammar school children. Now that figure has risen to approximately 200 students.

"Our volunteers have to usually beg for the food they serve. Periodically, a local food concern has provided the lunches. We plan to tap all resources. What we look for especially are various types of vegetables to use in our soup."

This task by the Third Order in Cincinnati is in conjunction with the "Action for Inter-Racial Understanding" (AIU), a charitable organization which originated three years ago in Boston, the present national headquarters.

The 37-year-old Franciscan priest, who was born in Escanaba, graduated from Bark River and St. Joseph High Schools before entering St. Francis Minor Seminary, Cincinnati, in preparation for the priesthood.

Father Douglas was ordained at Holy Family Monastery, Oldenburg, Ind., on June 11, 1957. "After my ordination, I was assigned to St. Joseph Church, a Negro parish in Kansas City, Mo., as assistant pastor.

"Soon afterwards I saw the need of such a program and began to obtain food for these pupils. It was rough for awhile, feeding over 100 kids with only $10.00 a day!"

After a three-year tenure at St. Joseph parish, Father Douglas was assigned to St. Anthony Church, Kansas City, Kans., for parish duties and teacher at Bishop Ward High School in that city. He has been stationed at his present position since 1963.

Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Nedea and three children have moved to Detroit where he is employed.

Clifford Bourgeois and A. D. Murray went to Iron Mountain for medical check-ups.

George Froggatt Sr. of Douglas, Wyo., is visiting at the home of his son, George Jr., at "Welcome Acres."

Mr. and Mrs. Isadore Bonifas have returned from a weekend visit in Marenisco.

The condition of Jacob Landis Sr., who has been a patient at Schoolcraft Memorial Hospital, Manistique, three weeks, is unchanged.

Ross Guertin of Detroit spent the weekend with his family here.

Reading Called Child Handicap

By G. K. HODENFIELD
AP Education Writer

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — Too many children are considered "mentally retarded" only because they have not been taught how to read, a reading expert said Tuesday.

Gilbert B. Schiffman, supervisor of reading services in Baltimore County, Md., said early detection of reading difficulties can increase ten-fold a child's chances for a successful school career.

Schiffman spoke to the American Association of School Administrators and later expanded his views in an interview.

He said recent studies showed four out of five pupils in second grade remedial classes attained reading proficiency.

In junior and senior high schools, Schiffman said, only one out of 10 did, and there was a tendency for these youngsters to "slip back" when remedial instruction stopped.

Schiffman said that "as the non-reader goes through the primary grades, his problems multiply — he cannot solve the problems in arithmetic or social studies, even though he may have the skills to do so, because he cannot read the examination questions. The impression is one of general academic failure."

"He is likely to be considered as mentally retarded or as a lazy child. It is difficult to imagine a more chilling indictment of a confused child, bewildered by his inability to learn despite his earnest efforts to do so."

He said the non-reader develops an inner turmoil that causes him to become a major problem in the home and at school.

Schiffman said the only way to correct this is to identify the non-readers at an early age and give them corrective studies during their school career.

Mrs. Earl Cota was hostess to the Kates Bay Home Economics Club recently. A lesson on hair styling, hair coloring and make-up was given by Mrs. Charles Rasmussen, Mrs. Bernard Grenier and Mrs. John Lester. A white elephant auction was held and valentine gifts were exchanged by the members. The next meeting will be held Feb. 25 at the home of Mrs. Bernard Grenier.

Mrs. Walter Kozen of Donora, Pa., arrived Monday to visit her mother, Mrs. Anna Rakosky who is a patient at Schoolcraft Memorial Hospital in Manistique.

Holland Gets Beechnut Plant

HOLLAND (AP) — A new confections manufacturing plant estimated in excess of $10 million will be built here by Beech-Nut Life Savers, Inc., the company announced.

Announcement accompanied signing of a contract for purchase of a 100-acre building site from the Holland Economic Development Corp.

Alger B. Chapman, Beech-Nut president and chairman of the board, said the proposed new plant will make possible a 50 per cent increase in the firm's production of candies and chewing gum.

A new baby foods plant also is planned for the site later, he said.

Construction of the confections manufacturing plant is scheduled to begin later this year. The structure is designed as a single story unit of 300,000 square feet.

It will employ about 350 persons at the start of production.

The property is located along M 40 in the southwestern portion of the city. Holland has pledged extension of water and sewer services to the site by September.

Beech-Nut Vice President Sherman A. Morse Jr., present for the signing, said a principal factor in selection of the Holland site was the availability of raw materials for baby foods.

"Excellent transportation facilities" and municipal services.

Cars Produced At Top Speed

DETROIT (AP) — U.S. auto production lines rolled at top speed this week but most hard pressed to keep up with the red hot sales market.

The Big Three — General Motors, Ford and Chrysler — reported sales of 227,216 cars in the first 10 days of February, a whopping 44.7 per cent jump over the 156,928 cars sold in the comparable period a year ago.

Chrysler, Cadillac, Dodge, Chevrolet and Pontiac were among those reporting their 10-day sales for Feb. 1-10 this year set new record highs; Buick, Plymouth and Lincoln-Mercury reported they were the best since 1956.

American Motors' 10-day sales report showed sales of 7,698 — down from last year's 8,039.

The strong sales market led Frederic G. Donner, board chairman of General Motors, to tell reporters at a Monday news conference:

"At the present time we have by any yardstick a very buoyant market that is absorbing all the cars we can build."

DETROIT (AP) — Detroit Edison Co. said its gross revenues for the 12 months ended Jan. 31 were $345,403,734, compared with $321,408,936 for the corresponding 1963-64 period.

The utility also declared a quarterly dividend of 3 1/2 cents a share, payable April 15 to stockholders of record March 25.
